

1975 - 1976

ASPEN

THERE'S ONLY ONE ASPEN. EST. 1879.

A Joint Venture of Aspen Skiing Corporation and Aspen Highlands Skiing Corporation

Aspen, 1879.

Lured by the scent of silver, the first prospectors trickle over Independence Pass. Many of them arrive on 'Norwegian snowshoes,' eight-foot skis that were a long way from today's lightweights.

Putting up makeshift canvas shelters, the miners named their town Ute City, a grudging nod to the legal possessors of the land. The town was vacated briefly during an understandable Ute uprising, but soon the news of glinting ore drew adventurers by the hundreds. Aspen was on its way.

By 1892 there were 11,000 enterprising citizens settled beneath the punctured side of Aspen Mountain. Up from the heart of the Smuggler Mine they hoisted the largest silver nugget ever, a 1,840 pound monster that could have yielded a bracelet for every person in town.

Before the boom subsided, over $105,000,000 worth of silver would roll through the streets of the now-genteel city. Ambitious commercial buildings rose up, along with perky Victorian gingerbread homes and a plush hotel that offered all the latest luxuries.

Aspen, 1976.

It's the same old town. With the addition of 300 miles of groomed ski trails spread out over four separate mountains. And a hundred places to stay, from the original hotel smack in the middle of town to a cozy lodge at the Highlands to a spanking new condominium right on the slopes at Snowmass.

The years have been kind to Aspen. Even with the invasion of everything new, it's still a Victorian town at heart. Gingerbread trim and Tiffany glass and white picket fences have come to feel right at home alongside boutiques and lodges and chair lifts.

And, of course, only Aspen can give you four fantastic mountains all at once. Aspen Mountain, Aspen Highlands, Buttermilk and Snowmass have come a long way since mining days. And you can ski them all on one six-day lift ticket. And get free transportation to all of them. And get the feeling that somehow you're luckier than anyone who ever came over the Continental Divide a century ago with a dream of mere silver.

Aspen, 1879.

Back when food was called grub, many of the miners' mules ate better than the miners. Beans and biscuits were the staple fuels, along with an occasional side of venison that happened to wander into the area. But by 1885, Aspen had eight restaurants going full steam.

The kind of man who earned his bread clawing rocks apart wanted his entertainment to be loud and primitive. Aspen soon had 26 saloons boistering round the clock. And 15 sporting houses staffed by soiled doves lined a street called the Row.

Then in 1889 the Wheeler Opera House drew its opening curtain on a fancy opera imported from Europe. Culture had come to Aspen. However, on the next day a presumably more earthy audience witnessed a fencing match between a lady of the troupe and a local swashbuckler. He won, but barely.

Aspen, 1976.

In Aspen, the skiing is only an appetizer. You'll find 85 restaurants here serving up everything from Chateaubriand to chili. Many gourmands, cleverly disguised as skiers, actually come to Aspen just to eat.

For all its lively past, there's more to discover here than ever before. You can drop in on the sounds of a dozen different kinds of music. There are dance halls called discotheques where you can loosen up after a hard day's skiing.

The nightlife here is legendary, and for good reason. It's almost enough to make a hard-rock miner blush.

All four Aspen Ski Areas are located in the White River National Forest.

ASPEN MOUNTAIN

Rising right out of town, it's tough and we're proud of it. This is the site of the 30th Roch World Cup, March 12-14, 1976, and in 1950 the FIS World Ski Championships were held for the first time in this country on Aspen Mountain.

Gretl's and the Sundeck offer great Bavarian food right on the mountain.

Vertical Rise: 3300 feet      Longest Run: 3 Miles
Lifts: 7 double chairs      Advanced: 75%      Intermediate: 25%

ASPEN HIGHLANDS

The fun, friendly mountain with terrain for all levels of ability. Highlands features G.L.M. instruction and the highest vertical drop in Colorado. A new double chair... the twelfth lift at Aspen Highlands... serves new expert and intermediate runs.

Two fine restaurants—one in the base lodge and Merry-Go-Round at Midway, two ski shops and three great apres ski bars with live entertainment.

Vertical Rise: 3800 feet, highest in Colorado      Longest Run: 3½ miles      Advanced: 25%
Lifts: 8 double chairs, 4 poma lifts      Intermediate: 50%      Beginner: 25%

BUTTERMILK

Aspen's most popular family area. With plenty of beginner and intermediate trails. And a variety of expert terrain in the Tiehack Area, including the Racer's Edge race course. Cliff House restaurant at the top of the slopes, together with A La Crepe Suzette, provide a great complement to the restaurant and bar facilities at our base.

Vertical Rise: 2000 feet      Longest Run: 2 miles
Lifts: 5 double chairs      Advanced: 12%
One T-bar      One Pony Lift      Intermediate: 46%      Beginner: 42%

SNOWMASS

The big one. With the Big Burn, Campground, Elk Camp and the new Alpine Springs area, Snowmass offers over 1,400 acres of skiing. Sam's Knob, The Ullrhof, The Elk Camp and the Alpine Springs Restaurants take care of big skiing appetites. Snowmass resort, at the base, offers rental shops, ski shops, boutiques, restaurants and lodging.

New this year the #9 double lift connecting Alpine Springs with the Big Burn.

Vertical Rise: 3500 feet      Longest Run: 3½ miles      Advanced: 23%
Lifts: 1 Triple Chair, 10 double chairs      Intermediate: 64%      Beginner: 13%

COUPON

No brochure can tell you the entire story of Aspen. So if you'd like to know more about our town, our mountains, our ski schools, or just getting around, check off the information you'd like below. And send it back to Aspen. Aspen Reservations, Inc., Box 4546. Colorado 81611.

- Fact Sheet on Ski Schools
- Aspen Transportation Information
- Information on Activities for Groups
- Travel Guide to Aspen ($1.00 ea)
- Four-mountain poster ($2.50 ea)

Name _____

Address _____

City _____

State _____

Zip _____

MAP KEY

Aspen

- 1. Alpina Haus
- 2. Alpine Lodge
- 3. Chateau Aspen
- 4. Chateau Chaumont
- 5. Chateau DuMont
- 6. Chateau Roaring Fork
- 7. Chateau Eau Claire
- 8. Chateau Snow
- 9. Aspen Block Apartments
- 10. Der Berghof
- 11. The Gavilon
- 12. Aspen East Condominiums
- 13. Aspen Townhouse East
- 14. Cooper Building
- 15. Queen Victoria
- 16. The Gant
- 17. Midland Condominiums
- 18. Aspen Cortina
- 19. Aspen Inn
- 20. Aspen Manor
- 21. Aspen Meadows
- 22. Concept 600
- 23. Southpoint
- 24. Aspen Silvergro Condominiums
- 25. Aspen Square
- 26. Bavarian Inn
- 27. Bell Mountain Lodge
- 28. Blue Spruce Ski Lodge
- 29. Boomerang Lodge
- 30. Buckhorn Lodge
- 31. Chalet Lisi
- 32. Chateau Blanc
- 33. Christiania Lodge
- 34. Christmas Inn
- 35. Coachlight Chalet
- 36. Continental Inn
- 37. Copper Horse
- 38. Crestahaus Lodge
- 39. Deep Powder Lodge
- 40. Dolomite Villas
- 41. Dormez-Vous
- 42. Durant Condominiums
- 43. Endeavor Lodge
- 44. Fasching Haus
- 45. Alpenblick Condominiums
- 46. Fifth Avenue Condominiums
- 47. Fireside Lodge
- 48. Gasthof Eberli
- 49. Glory Hole Lodge
- 50. Hearthstone House
- 51. Highlands Inn
- 52. Holiday House
- 53. Holland House
- 54. Hotel Jerome
- 55. Innsbruck Sportsmotel
- 56. Kitzbuhel Lodge
- 57. Le Clairvaux Condominiums
- 58. Lift One Condominiums
- 59. Limelite Lodge
- 60. Little Red Ski Haus
- 61. Maroon Creek Lodge
- 62. Molly Gibson Lodge
- 63. Mountain Chalet
- 64. Mountain Queen Condominiums
- 65. North of Nell
- 66. North Star Lodge
- 67. Nugget Lodge
- 68. Plum Tree Inn
- 69. Pomegranate Inn
- 70. Powderbird Ski House
- 71. Prospector Lodge
- 72. 210 Cooper
- 73. Timber Ridge
- 74. Silver Bell
- 75. The Villager
- 76. Aspen Townhouse West
- 77. Little Nell Condominiums
- 78. Villa Townhouses
- 79. Riverview Condominiums
- 80. Old Hundred Condominiums
- 81. Cottonwood Condominiums
- 82. St. Moritz Lodge
- 83. Shadow Mountain Village
- 84. Smuggler Lodge
- 85. Snowflake Lodge
- 86. SnowQueen Lodge
- 87. T-Lazy-7
- 88. Tipple Inn/Lodge
- 89. Tyrolean Lodge
- 90. Ullr Lodge
- 91. Vagabond Lodge
- 92. Mittendorf Condominiums
- 93. Ute Creek Condominiums
- 94. Aspen Townhouse Central
- 95. 700 Monarch Building

Snowmass

- 1. Center Willows Condominiums
- 2. Crestwood Condominiums
- 3. El Dorado Lodge
- 4. Interlude Condominiums
- 5. Laurelwood Condominiums
- 6. Lichenheart Condominiums
- 7. Lower Willows Condominiums
- 8. Melton Ranch Chalets
- 9. Mountain Chalet Lodge
- 10. Pokolodi Lodge
- 11. Snowmass Inn
- 12. Seasons Four
- 13. Shadowbrook Condominiums
- 14. Silver Tree Lodge
- 15. Sonnenblick Townhouses
- 16. Stonebridge Condominiums
- 17. Stonebridge Inn
- 18. Tamarack Townhouses
- 19. Timberline Condominiums
- 20. Timberline Lodge
- 21. Top of the Village Condominiums
- 22. The Aspenwood Condominiums
- 23. Wildwood Inn
- 24. Inns of Court
- 25. Wood Run Homes
- 26. Medical Clinic

ASPEN

PLANNING

Study available accommodations.

At Aspen, you can choose from over 100 places to stay. Study the lodges and condominiums on the chart. Check the amenities they offer. Make a list of two or three preferences, and two or three dates for your ski trip. Having alternative choices will save you time later on, if you need to make adjustments.

Make your reservation.

Once you've made a list of places and dates, you're ready to talk to your airline or your local travel agent.

Still have questions? Call Aspen.

If by any chance you still have unanswered questions about your trip to Aspen, you can call Aspen Reservations, Inc. at 303-925-4000. You can also make your reservations directly through us at this number.

Getting here.

It's a cinch. By air, Aspen is the most accessible ski resort in the world. You can fly in directly from Denver, Colorado Springs, Grand Junction or Salt Lake City. Call your travel agent for details. By car or bus, Aspen is about 5 hours from Denver. Rental cars with ski racks are available in all gateway cities.

SKI SCHOOLS

Aspen can instruct anyone, from the brash beginner to the seasoned veteran. We have a ski school and rental facilities on every mountain, with over three hundred professional instructors who teach everything from basic GLM to racing and powder techniques. For the kids, we have special groups, special instructors, a supervised lunch, and on three of the mountains, a $3 children's lift ticket that no other major resort can beat. We also teach the blind, amputees, the deaf and those who are otherwise inconvenienced.

Once you arrive in Aspen, you'll find there are a tremendous variety of ski school packages you can choose from.

GENERAL INFO.

SKI PACKAGE DEFINED: A pre-paid ski vacation booked through an Airline or Travel Agent. The ground elements include seven nights of lodging and six days of skiing. The air element includes round trip air transportation to and from Denver, Grand Junction or Colorado Springs. Together they comprise the Aspen Ski Package.

DATES AVAILABLE:

IT-ASP January 2, 1976 thru March 26, 1976
IT-ASP-L November 27, 1975 thru December 19, 1975 and March 27, 1976 thru April 11, 1976
IT-ASP-L4 November 27, 1975 thru December 19, 1975 and March 27, 1976 thru April 11, 1976
April 4, 1976 thru April 11, 1976—all facilities operating except Buttermilk Mountain

IT-ASP and IT-ASP-L include:

1. Seven nights lodging
2. Six days of skiing at any of the 4 Aspen Mountains: Aspen Highlands, Aspen Mountain, Buttermilk or Snowmass

IT-ASP-L4+ includes:

1. Minimum of 4 nights lodging
  2. Minimum of 3 days of lifts at any of the 4 Aspen Mountains: Aspen Highlands, Aspen Mountain, Buttermilk or Snowmass
- NOTE: Additional lodging nights and skiing days available at your choice upon request with this low season package.

Your Package Excludes:

- TAXES, STATE AND LOCAL on lodging portion of package. (These taxes are payable to lodge on arrival.) Tax rates are 7% in Aspen and Snowmass
- Tips, food and ground transfers
- Ski equipment rental
- Phone charges

CHILDREN 12 AND YOUNGER DON'T NEED PACKAGE

ASPEN WELCOMES CHILDREN! In fact, the daily ski-lift rate of $3 for children 12 years of age and younger on Aspen Highlands, Buttermilk and Snowmass is considerably lower than that of most major ski resorts in the United States. Air Fares from most cities for children under 12 can be greatly reduced, children often don't need package plans.

To figure the price of accommodations for children who will occupy a regular bed, use the lodging-rate charts in this brochure and deduct the price of an adult six-day ski-lift ticket:

Nov. 27-Dec. 19 and March 27-April 11 . . . . . deduct $54
Jan. 2-March 27 . . . . . deduct $64

RESERVATIONS may be made through a scheduled Airline reservation office, your Travel Agent or through Aspen Reservation, Inc., P.O. Box 4546, Aspen, Colorado, 81611, (303) 925-4000. If you call Aspen Reservations you should carefully read the section in this brochure entitled "Planning Your Trip" before calling. This will save you time and money.

DEPOSITS: $50 per person, per package, deposit is required ten (10) days after confirmation.

FINAL PAYMENT: Final payment is due on arrival.

CANCELLATIONS: Lodges reserve the right to withhold $5 per person, per package, of deposit as a handling fee on any confirmed reservation (where deposit has been received) which is cancelled. Lodges reserve the right to withhold the ENTIRE deposit when a confirmed reservation (where deposit has been received) is cancelled with less than 30 days notice.

FULL SERVICE HOTELS

	Typical Rate (double occ) (per person)	Total # of Rooms in Bldg	P.O. Box Zip-81611	Phone (303) 925-
ASPEN:
Aspen Inn	$211	61	680	3462
Aspen Meadows*	183	52	220	3426
Continental Inn	211	175	388	1150
Highlands Inn	194	40	1168	5050
Plum Tree Inn	211	48	1368	2700
Pomegranate Inn	211	65	1368	2700

		Zip—81615	923-
SNOWMASS:
El Dorado Lodge	204	81	5009 WV 3520
Silvertree Inn	204	59	5009 WV 3520
Stonebridge Inn	218	101	5008 WV 2420
Wildwood Inn	197	144	5037 WV 3550

AMENITIES: All the above "Full Service Hotels" provide: Restaurant/Cocktail Lounge on premises, swimming pool, sauna, courtesy car, daily maid service, TV in rooms, telephone in rooms and conference and meeting room facilities on premises. (*Aspen Meadows-swimming pool not open in winter months)

RATE RANGE: 7nt/6day packages: Regular Season from $148pp to $260pp
Low Season from $124pp to $201pp
4nt/3day packages: Low Season from $ 75pp to $ 87pp

LODGES

	Typical Rate (double occ) (per person)	Total # of Rooms in Bldg	P.O. Box Zip-81611	Phone (303) 925-
--	--	--------------------------	--------------------	------------------

ASPEN:
Alpina Haus, P,F	$134	42	1186	7335
Aspen Cortina	120	15	1145	4595
Buckhorn Lodge, C,T	141	19	316	7630
Dormez-Vous, C	148	20	120	7983
Little Red Ski Haus, F	134	22	1042	3333
Alpine Lodge, F	155	11	716	7351
Applejack Inn, P,C,T	190	35	1552	7650
Aspen Manor, P,C,T	191	22	310	3001
Aspen Silverglo Condos P	148	4	9260	8450
Bavarian Inn, P	159	15	1244	7391
Bell Mtn Lodge, P,C	169	12	328	3675
Blue Spruce Lodge, P,C,T	162	33	596	3991
Boomerang Lodge, P,C,T	169	33	253	3416
Christiania Lodge, P,F,T	155	18	536	3014
Christmas Inn, C	162	21	1756	3822
Coachlight Chalet, F	169	9	1718	3809
Crestahaus, C	162	16	630	7081
Gasthof Eberli, F	169	15	2112	2166
Heatherbed Lodge	148	18	530	7077
Holiday House, P	169	22	634	3512
Holland Haus	152	22	182	7361
Hotel Jerome	162	35	J	1040
Innsbruck Sportsotel, P,C	169	30	1876	2980
Limelite Lodge, P,C,T	176	60	1089	3025
Molly Gibson, P,C,T	176	18	2099	2580
Mountain Chalet, P,F	176	46	1206	7797
Nugget Lodge, P,C	176	34	N	3441
Smuggler Lodge, P,T	162	33	8977	3434
Snowflake Lodge, P	189	36	689	3221
Tipple Lodge, C	169	11	147	1087
Ullr Lodge, P,F	155	11	867	7696
Fasching Haus, P	176	26	1750	2260
Fireside Lodge, P,F	169	20	L-3	6000
Hearthstone House, F	197	18	60	7632
Northstar Lodge, P,F	197	22	2289	2946
Prospector Lodge, F	190	17	3296	3634
St. Moritz Lodge, P,C	190	28	46	3220
Vagabond Lodge, P,C	187	20	391	3622

		Zip—81615	923-
SNOWMASS:
Inns of Snowmass, P,C	197	73	B-2 WV 4310
Snowmass Mtn Chalet, P,F	204	56	5066 WV 3900

AMENITIES: (F—full breakfast, C—Continental Breakfast, P—Pool, T—TV) in addition to the amenities checked, some of the above lodges provide: sauna, telephone in rooms, courtesy car and daily maid service.

RATE RANGE: 7nt/6day packages: Regular Season from $120pp to $260pp
Low Season from $ 96pp to $208pp
4nt/3day packages: Low Season from $ 57pp to $105pp

MANAGEMENT COMPANIES

	Typical Range (4 persons in 2 Bdrm) (per person)	Total # of Apartments	P.O. Box Zip-81611	Phone (303) 925-
--	--	-----------------------	--------------------	------------------

ASPEN:
Aspen Chateaux Company	$161-$222	72	4420	1100
Chateau Aspen, Chateau Chaumont, Chateau DuMont, Old Hundred Condominium, Aspen Townhouse East, Little Nell Condominium

Aspen Chateaux Condos Rental Company	$178-$222	112	4949	1400
Aspen Block, Chateau Chaumont, Chateau DuMont, Der Berghof, Chateau EauClaire, Chateau Roaring Fork, Chateau Snow

Aspen Condominiums	$169-$204	17	10502	8310
Aspen East, Aspen Townhouse East, Gant, Gavilon, Midland Condominiums, Queen Victoria and various houses

Aspen Property Management Co.	$178-$222	45	4458	2268
Concept 600, Little Nell Condominium, Southpoint and various houses

Fasching Haus Management Alpenblick	$169-$211	33	1750	2260
-------------------------------------	-------------	----	------	------

Reid Rentals	$143-$248	125	496	7691
Alpenblick, Aspen East, 210 Cooper, Villager, Aspen Townhouse West, Cottonwoods, Der Berghof, Gavilon, Little Nell, Midland Condominiums, Old Hundred Condominiums, Riverview Condominiums, Silverbell, Southpoint, Timber Ridge, Villa of Aspen Townhouses and various houses

Vilcor	$187-$229	70	3218	5240
Aspen Townhouse West, Aspen Townhouse Central, Aspen Townhouse East, Alpenblick, Cottonwoods, Gavilon, Little Nell, Midland, Mittendorf, Old Hundred Condominiums, Queen Victoria, Riverview, Southpoint, Timber Ridge, Villa of Aspen Townhouses, Ute Condominiums, 700 Monarch, 210 Cooper.

		Zip—81615	923-
SNOWMASS:
Aspen Chateaux Condos Rental Company	$178-$196	112	4949 1400
Inns of Court, Season's 4

Vilcor-Snowmass	$187-$229	185	5473 WV 2676
Inns of Court, Interlude, Laurelwood, Lichenhearth, Stonebridge, Tamarack, Top of the Village, Willows and various houses

The Village Property Mgmt	$176-$231	301	5550 WV 4350
Aspenwood, Center Willows, Inns of Court, Interlude, Laurelwood, Lichenhearth, Season's 4, Sonnenblick, Snowmass Mountain Condominiums, Tamarack, Terrace-house Top of the Village, Stonebridge and various houses

RATE RANGE: 7nt/6day packages: Reg Season from $143pp to $248pp
Low Season from $116pp to $221pp
4nt/3day packages: Low Season from $ 62pp to $ 95pp

CONDOMINIUM "RESORTS"

	Typical Rate (4 persons in 2 Bdrm Apt.) (per person)	Total # of Apartments	P.O. Box Zip-81611	Phone (303) 925-
--	--	-----------------------	--------------------	------------------

ASPEN:
•Aspen Chateaux Company
Chateau Aspen	$196	21	4420	1100
Chateau Chaumont	204	23	4420	1100
Chateau Du Mont	204	22	4420	1100
•Aspen Chateaux Condo Rental Company
Chateau Eau Claire	211	28	4949	1400
Chateau Roaring Fork	211	42	4949	1400
Aspen Square	222	105	XX	1000
Fasching Haus	211	26	1750	2260
The Gant Condominiums	222	110	K-3	5000
Life One Condominiums	187	30	2240	1670
Mountain Queen Condo	344	15	8880	6366
Pomegranate Condo	204	65	1368	2700

		Zip—81615	923-
SNOWMASS:
Crestwood Condominiums	213	144	5460 WV 2450
Timberline Condominium	213	100	I-2 WV 4000

AMENITIES: All the above "Condominium Resorts" are individual condominium apartments with recreational complex including pool, sauna, some with tennis courts or paddle tennis courts. All provide conference and meeting facilities on premises.

RATE RANGE: 7nt/6day packages: Regular Season from $161pp to $344pp
Low Season from $133pp to $306pp
4nt/3day packages: Low Season from $107pp to $169pp

LODGE APARTMENTS

	Typical Rate per person for 2 persons in 1 bedroom For other See Footnote	Total # of Apartments	P.O. Box Zip-81611	Phone (303) 925-
--	---	-----------------------	--------------------	------------------

ASPEN:
Aspen Inn	$197	20	680	3462
Aspen Meadows	197	8	220	3426
Bavarian Inn	211	3	1244	7391
Bell Mountain Lodge	232	4	328	3675
Blue Spruce Lodge	204+	7	596	3991
Boomerang Lodge	239	14	253	3416
Chalet Lisl	204	8	152	3520
Christiania Lodge	218	6	536	3014
Coachlight Chalet	239	2	1718	3809
Continental Inn	225+	21	388	1150
Deep Powder	141	8	3038	2290
Gasthof Eberli	180+	6	2112	2166
Heatherbed Lodge	187	4	530	7077
Holiday House	260	7	634	3512
Maroon Creek Lodge	187	11	236	3491
Molly Gibson Lodge	169*	2	2099	2580
Mountain Chalet	187	2	1206	7797
North Star Lodge	302	6	2289	2946
Prospector Lodge	239	2	3296	3634
St. Moritz Lodge	253	3	46	3220
Snowflake Lodge	243	18	689	3221
T-Lazy-7 Ranch	222	16	7254	7254
Tyrolean Lodge	148	15	1145	4595
Vagabond Lodge	274	4	391	3622

*Rates listed - per person for 4 people in 1 or 2 Bdrm Apt. +2 persons in Studio. **4 persons in 1 Bdrm. ***4 persons in 2 Bdrm.

AMENITIES: The above properties are kitchen units located in lodges. Listed above are the total number of apartments located in these lodges. For the total number of units (kitchen and non-kitchen) see Lodge Section. Also see Lodge Section for complete amenities listing.

RATE RANGE: 7nt/6day packages: Regular Season from $138pp to $309pp
Low Season from $121pp to $282pp
4nt/3day packages: Low Season from $ 67pp to $136pp

DORMS

	Typical Rate (per person)	Total # of Dorm Beds	P.O. Box Zip-81611	Phone (303) 925-
--	---------------------------	----------------------	--------------------	------------------

ASPEN:
Alpine Lodge, F	$106	6	716	7351
Aspen Cortina	99	8	1145	4595
Continental Inn	134	20	388	1150
Copper Horse, F	120	54	4948	7525
Dormez Vous, C	134	50	120	7983
Endeavor Lodge, C	113	32	9846	2847
Highlands Inn	134	46	1168	5050
Holland House	127	16	182	7361
Little Red Ski Haus, F	120	60	1042	3333
Mountain Chalet, F	134	28	1206	7797
Powderbird Ski House, C	120	20	3399	3018
St. Moritz Lodge, C	134	32	46	3220
Snowflake Lodge	127	12	689	3221
SnowQueen Lodge, C	131	13	4901	9973
Vagabond Lodge, F	141	6	391	3622

AMENITIES: F—Full Breakfast C—Continental Breakfast
RATE RANGE: 7nt/6day packages: Regular Season from $113pp to $134pp
Low Season from $ 96pp to $117pp
4nt/3day packages Low Season from $ 47pp to $ 67pp

CONDOMINIUM APARTMENTS

	Typical Rate (4 persons in 2 Bdrm Apt.) (per person)	Total # of Apartments	P.O. Box Zip-81611	Phone (303) 925-
--	--	-----------------------	--------------------	------------------

ASPEN:
Aspen Silverglo Condos	$177	24	9260	8450
Chateau Blanc	161	15	2360	1441
Dolomite Villas	165	9	8340	7624
Durant Condominiums	213	22	2108	7910
Fifth Avenue Condos	204	20	1364	7397
Le Clairvaux Condos	196	10	4055	7352
North of Nell Condos	222	41	NN	1510
Park Meadows Condos	148*	24	1033	3767
Shadow Mountain Village	204	20	DD	7055
Snowqueen Condos	196	2	4901	9973
Tipple Inn	187	7	147	1087

		Zip—81615	923-
SNOWMASS:
Laurelwood Condominiums	239	42	5600 WV 3110
Shadowbrook Condos	193*	24	5036 WV 2300

* Park Meadows - rate listed for 2 people in Studio Apartment
** Dolomite Villa - rate listed for 10 people in 5 Bdrm Apartment
*** Laurelwood - rate listed for 2 people in Studio Apartment
****Shadowbrook - rate listed for 6 people in 3 Bdrm Apartment

AMENITIES: The above properties are fully equipped apartments, most have fire-places, telephone in apartment, TV and radio. Some include pool and sauna.
RATE RANGE: 7nt/6day packages: Regular Season from $148pp to $239pp
Low Season from $131pp to $194pp
4nt/3day packages: Low Season from $ 81pp to $107pp

1975-76

ASPEN HIGHLANDS SKI SCHOOL

You're striking an arrogant pose atop one of the world's most awesome mountains, a playful breeze tussling your locks, your gleamy-new, color-coordinated poles, boots and skis sunk in fathomless soufflé powder. You feel terrific. You look terrific. Then you notice that 3,800 foot drop just off the ski lift.

And lo, there came a sign.

We'd like to step in before you step down. With ski lessons from our renowned school at Aspen Highlands. Our version of the celebrated GLM makes skiing so easy even an adult can do it. And so much fun, he wants to.

The Graduated Length Method replaces the graduated fear method which formerly galvanized the limbs of learners everywhere. We start you out on stubby, ridiculous three-foot skis that serve as training wheels. When you've mastered the basic maneuvers, you go on to four, then five-foot, and ultimately conventional-length skis.

It's easier than falling off a mountain. Even if you're already a fairly adept skier, a few lessons in GLM will really snap your style into shape. Beginners start to parallel immediately, and actually end up skiing the mountain from top to bottom (on beginner and intermediate runs) after just a week.

Hi, I'm Lefty. Ski me.

Aspen Highlands Ski School has transformed thousands of 140-pound weaklings into ruddy-cheeked powder trippers. And you can be one of them.

Let's twist again like we did last summer.

We'd like to call the rumors as they lie.

Some people have been bandying about the information that skiing is difficult. A rank untruth. Learning to ski is actually staggeringly simple. Our Ski School Director, Lefty Brinkman, contends, "If it's not simple, then I don't know how to teach it" And here is a man who walks his dog left-handed.

The Highlands Ski School believes in giving your body its head. The lazy, waltzing rhythm of skiing seems to come instinctively if you're left to your own devices. So Lefty and his cohorts don't befuddle you with a lot of commandments.

The mood is relaxed. Your Highlands instructor observes you carefully as you proceed, and tailors his teaching to your individual progress. Now watch the Highlands method get you to the top of that mountain, the first day.

Just stay outta my lane.

Charlie Meyers

Buzz Soard

Complete freedom is the lure of Maroon Bowl, an undeveloped wonderland off the back side of the Aspen Highlands ski area.

Sunday Denver Post 1000 9, 1975

As a ski area pacesetter, Hans Schwarz of Aspen Highlands establishes a norm or standard for NASTAR race in his area.

Sunday Denver Post Nov 11, 1975

Aspen Times Nov 13, 1975

Lefty Brinkman

Aspen Highlands re-organizes its ski school

Whipple V N Jones, president of Aspen Highlands Skiing Corp, has announced details of the ski school reorganization at Highlands.

Charles (Lefty) Brinkman will be ski school director. Four supervisors have been appointed to help him: John Bruegger, Bob Cutting, Dave Schuler and Bob Smith. All have been associated with the school for a number of years.

In addition to GLM and traditional length ski instruction, a new freestyle division will be offered this year. Bill Petersen, nationally known free styler has been named to supervise this program under Brinkman's direction.

The first ski school instructors' clinic will be from Dec 1-6. Interested applicants should sign up at the main ticket office by Nov 30, or call 925-7302 for information.

Lefty Brinkman, director of the Aspen Highlands Ski School, shows his instructors the proper form.

HIGHLANDS SKI SCHOOL: PROGRESSIVE

The Aspen Highlands Ski School, under the direction of Charles (Lefty) Brinkman, has over 100 professional instructors and offers the most modern and progressive system taught anywhere.

In addition to traditional length instruction, the Aspen Highlands Ski School offers Aspen's oldest and most successful Graduated Length Method (GLM) Ski School. It's the fastest, easiest, most fun method of ski instruction available anywhere.

Highlands uses the techniques developed by the originator of GLM, Cliff Taylor. Over many years, Taylor has refined and improved GLM instruction to the point it is now. The Highlands "Direct Parallel" method is based on 13 parallel "Turning Power" exercises that are first taught on 3' short skis, then applied to 4', 5' and ultimately traditional length skis. The system is used to teach beginners a direct-parallel method immediately. It's also used to help intermediate skiers who are having problems with parallel technique. In addition, it can improve and sharpen the technique of experts and even junior racers.

Rates:

Full Day	$12.00
Three Day	$30.00
Five Day	$45.00
Children, 12 & under	$ 9.00
Private Lesson	$20.00-hour

Hours: 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. daily.

SKI CORPS. OFFER SPECIAL ACTIVITIES FOR GROUPS

Both the Aspen Skiing Corporation (Aspen Mountain, Buttermilk and Snowmass) and the Aspen Highlands Skiing Corporation have customer service organizations which provide special activities for groups. These activities include on-slope picnics, fun races, special NASTAR events, beer slaloms, obstacle courses, etc. Most group events are staged at Aspen Highlands, Buttermilk, and Snowmass; however, events can be planned at Aspen Mountain by special arrangement. At the Aspen Skiing Corporation slopes, a non-refundable reservation fee is charged for picnics — $25 for groups up to 50 people and $50 for groups of 51 and larger.

For events at Aspen Highlands, contact the Customer Service Department, Box T, Aspen, Colorado 81611. For events on Aspen Skiing Corporation slopes, contact Jack McTarnaghan, Director of Recreational Services (head of the 30-member Snowhost and Snowhostess organization), Marketing Section, Box 1248, Aspen, Colorado 81611. The phone number at Highlands is 303-925-7302; at the Aspen Skiing Corporation, it is 303-925-1220.

ASPEN HIGHLANDS
OFFERS SEASON PASS

The Aspen Highlands will continue to offer an unrestricted ski season pass for the 1975-76 season. The cost of the season pass is $300.00.

The Highlands also offers a "Weekend Pass" good only on Saturdays and Sundays for a cost of $150.00.

Skiers enjoying a hearty and relaxing wine and cheese party atop one of Aspen's big four mountains.

Beginning to Regulate the Ski Industry?

by Mike Hunter

"The reason that corporate managers enjoy virtually complete economic and social power, is the ineffectiveness of an agency of the United States government, the U.S. Forest Service," said Tony Accetta, first assistant to the Colorado Attorney General for Consumer Affairs. Accetta was addressing U.S. Senator Floyd Haskell (D-Colorado) in Aspen on October 4.

Haskell was chairing an Interior subcommittee hearing on legislation which will provide for the issuance of commercial use permits for outdoor recreational facilities operating on National Forest lands.

The Senator's bill, S2125, will affect almost every ski area in the country. To what extent can only be determined when its contents are finally decided upon in coming weeks.

Generally, the legislation seeks uniformity on the part of the Forest Service in granting ski area permits, and lift rate increases. Haskell also wants to see more input into the Forest Service decision making process by local governments and residents.

Some of Aspen's local government and residents are playing a major role in the formulation of the bill. The city council, at Haskell's request, sent suggestions for inclusion based on comments made at the hearing. Many city and county officials who testified there said they are by-passed in Forest Service decisions that have a direct and significant impact on the community.

The city has also protested to Forest Service headquarters in Washington, the process by which lift rate increases are granted. The protest came about when the Aspen Skiing Corporation (as well as other skiing companies), received a rate increase for this season following on the heels of its most successful season ever. Provisions for granting lift rate increases will appear in the Haskell bill.

Last year the city government also found itself at odds with the Aspen Skiing Corporation over a proposed amusement tax bill, which was defeated in the last session of the Colorado legislature. The tax would have been tacked on to the price of a lift ticket, and given to the city to help defray the costs of providing public services to the skiers.

The Corporation felt the tourist was taxed enough with a seven per cent sales tax, and the ski lobby was instrumental in defeating the bill. But the issue has not been put to bed, because the city has recommended to Haskell that he include an amusement tax provision in his legislation.

Senator Haskell may also deal with the plight of the "independent" or "underground" ski instructor in the bill. At present, the skiing corporations receive the only permits from the Forest Service to teach skiing on National Forest lands. So an individual must be affiliated with a ski school to legally teach skiing.

Don Lemos, one such fully certified instructor in Aspen, has been fighting the current policy for five years. In recent months he has attracted the attention of the Colorado Attorney General and Senator Haskell, who both wonder if his suit is not justified.

The Attorney General's office is trying to enter the suit with Lemos, claiming there is no question that USFS policy constitutes a monopoly for the ski schools. Haskell has asked the agency to change its policy too. If Lemos is turned down again, indications are that Haskell will include a provision in his bill allowing qualified independents legal access to ski areas on National Forest land.

The Haskell bill in its final version will surely contain many controversial sections. And it will be examined by government officials, ski industry executives, and ski enthusiasts alike, all from different perspectives.

ASPEN
HIGHLANDS

PRO SKI SPREE
AT HIGHLANDS

Friday December 12, Pro Qualifying Races for new pro circuit racers
Sunday December 14,
Dodge Aspen Cup Giant Slalom
Friday December 19,
Budweiser Cup Giant
Slalom televised by ABC
Wide World of Sports

See it all at the Jerome
Bowl, Aspen Highlands
Maroon Creek Road

ASPEN HIGHLANDS RESORT GROUP

O. W. Brehmer
Sr. Vice President, Marketing

11/30/75

Aspen Highlands offers 10-ride ski tickets

Aspen Highlands has announced a new ticket policy to help skiers who have limited time available.

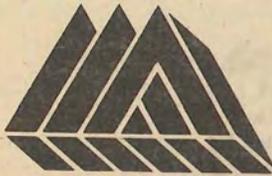

The Highlands will offer a ten-ride ticket, good on the Thunderbowl Lift only, for $7.50.

The punch-type ticket can be used anytime throughout the season, and carried over from one day to the next.

The ticket will allow those employees who work on a split or certain days to have limited ski time.

Aspen Highlands season tickets, on sale for $300 on an unrestricted-use basis, will be sold only through this Sunday, Nov 30.

ASPEN HIGHLANDS
SKIING CORPORATION

Aspen Times
11/29/75

ASPEN HIGHLANDS SKI SCHOOL CLINIC Dec. 1 - 6

$50 FOR 6 DAYS OF CLINIC - 6 DAYS OF LIFTS

Hiring Clinic For Aspen Highlands Ski School

Also

Refresher Clinic to Improve Your Skiing Technique

3 DAYS OF GLM & 3 DAYS OF LONG SKIS

For Further Information: Call 925-7302

ASPEN HIGHLANDS SKIING CORPORATION

ASPEN HIGHLANDS
CONFERENCE CENTER

ASPEN TENNIS RANCH

HIGHLANDS INN

HIGHLANDS INN SKI AND TENNIS SHOP

ASPEN SKY RIDE

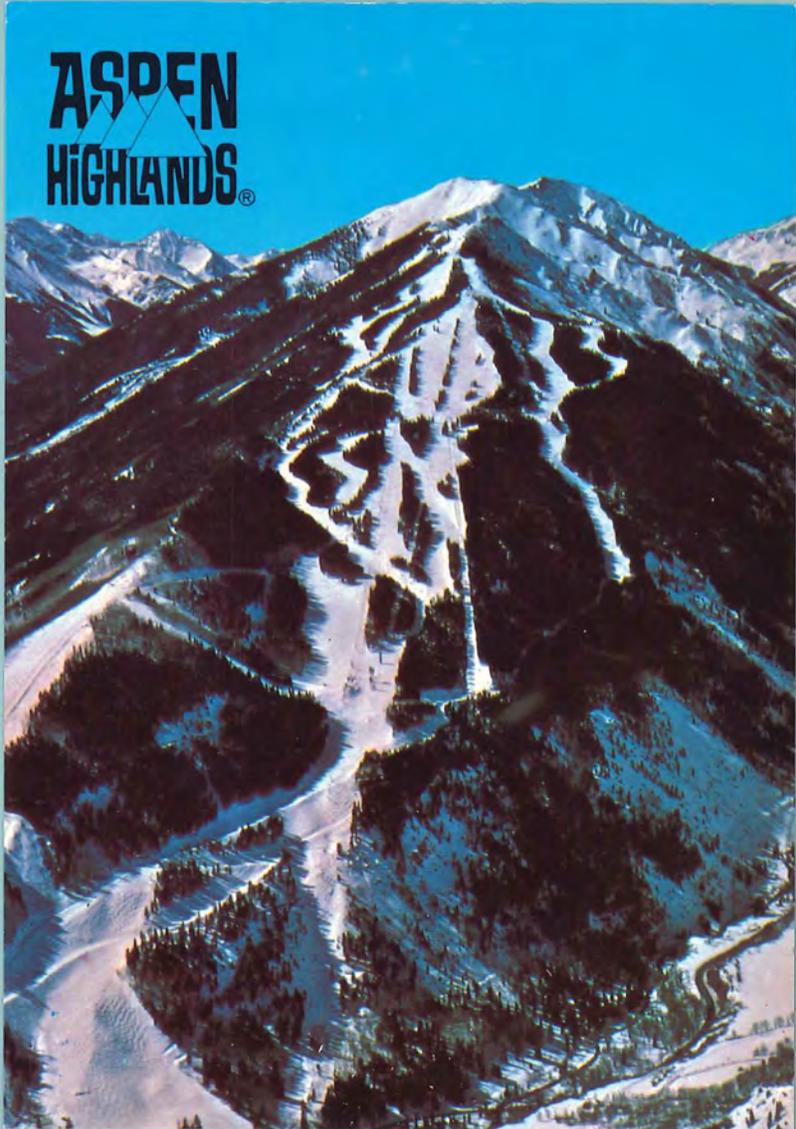

ASPEN HIGHLANDS
SKI SCHOOL

ASPEN HIGHLANDS
FOOD SERVICE

P.O. Box T,
Aspen, Colorado 81611
(303) 925-2798

*Photos & postcards
by Mike Charney*

Final Hot dog contest
Aspen Highlands
April 1975

The Contestants

The judges
Judy Coyle
Skip Peterson
Lefty Bunker
Bill Peterson

My Warmest
Thanks

Dear Vivian:

Here is a small token of appreciation & thanks for making it possible for Judy to give me a ski pass.
sincerely

Kermita Boyle
(Judy's mom)

A thousand thanks
Sincere as can be
All go their way
To you from me

NASTAR final set for Highlands, Snowmass

The eighth annual NASTAR national finals will be held here next spring, with races at both Highlands and Snowmass—the first time the finals have been held on two different mountains.

The races will be held April 9-10, with the first day's racing at Highlands and the second at Snowmass, adding "the challenge of a new course on a different mountain each day," according to Bob Beattie, head of NASTAR.

Eighty skiers will race in the finals—40 men and 40 women—in eight different classes, with three trophies awarded in each class.

The racers, ranging in age from 19 up into their 60's, will qualify for the finals by having the lowest NASTAR handicaps after entering at least three races during the season, at one of the 70 ski areas sponsoring NASTAR races.

Although NASTAR races are open to all skiers, the finals are only for skiers 19 and older who are not classified racers, ski area employees, or former NASTAR finalists.

Two men and two women racers in each of four age brackets qualify as finalists from each of five geographic regions. Age brackets for the finals are 19-29, 30-39, 40-49 and 50 and up.

NASTAR races are held almost daily in Aspen at one or another of the four mountains in the area.

Aspen Highlands has been the leading single NASTAR area in the country on several occasions, with more NASTAR entries than any other mountain.

In addition to regular NASTAR races, Highlands will hold NASTAR Plus races again this year, offering cash prizes.

In NASTAR Plus racing, entrants pay a higher than normal entry fee, which goes into a cash purse for the top finishers in the special event.

Locals clinics, start 8th, 15th at Highlands area

Charles (Lefty) Brinkman, Aspen Highlands Ski School director, announced this week that two five-day clinics for local residents will be held from Dec 8 through 12, and Dec 15-19.

The cost will be $35. This does not include lift tickets.

Each clinic will be divided into two groups—one for beginning skiers, featuring GLM instruction; the other for advanced skiers who wish to sharpen their skills on regular length skis.

Interested residents should sign up at the main ticket office at Highlands on Sunday, Dec 7, or Dec 14. For more information, call 925-7302.

Aspen Times 12/4/75

ASPEN HIGHLANDS SPECIAL SKI SCHOOL PROGRAMS

This season the Aspen Highlands Ski School will offer several special, fun programs primarily designed for Aspen area residents. They will be offered during the entire ski season except for the two week period from 12-20-75 through 1-3-76.

- |   |                         |
|---|-------------------------|
| 1. Saturday Group Lesson  | $7.00           |
| 2. Saturday-Sunday Freestyle Clinic   | $15.00 total    |
| 3. Thursday-Friday Advance Skier Specials(Includes a wine and cheese apres ski party at Highlands Inn). | $20.00 total    |
| 4. Private Lesson - 2 people - any day$5.00 for third person   | $20.00 per hour |

For more information on any of these special ski school classes, call 925-7302.

The Above Prices do not include lift tickets—

Lopez Peak early morning

Aspen 'Spree' to Open '75-76 Pro Season

Denver Post 12/10/75

By CHARLIE MEYERS
Denver Post Ski Editor

ASPEN, Colo.—The first week of World Pro Skiing's seventh season very likely will be the biggest.

Dubbed the Aspen Pro-Spree, it will feature a full nine days of racing activity, including two complete pro events and a variety of challenge races. Prize money will total $60,000.

And, if history repeats, these two races could set the tone for the entire season. A year ago, French newcomer Henri Duvillard and American Hank Kashiwa dominated the first two weekends of racing at Vail and Aspen and continued to control the tour for the remainder of the season. After pulling ahead at midseason, Kashiwa hung on to win his first world title and $44,500 in prize money. Although Duvillard finished second in the point standings, he led in money winnings with $52,200 and won a record 10 individual

The pros will qualify Friday at Aspen Highlands for the giant slalom final, first event of the Dodge-Aspen Series, scheduled Sunday on the same hill. In between, the Rocky Mountain Division will engage in a challenge with the pros. The Dodge-Aspen slalom will be Tuesday, Dec 16, on Aspen Mountain. Then on the following Friday the racers will start the whole thing over again for two races sponsored by Budweiser. The giant slalom will be that day at Aspen Mountain. There also will be a Town Challenge and Bartenders Race Wednesday at either Highlands or Buttermilk and a Celebrity Pro-Am Thursday on Aspen Mountain.

Foothills Range Schedules Rotating Team Trap Shoot

A rotating team trap shoot, to be scheduled at different gun clubs in the coming months with one shoot a month, is being sponsored by the Foothills Trap Range, 3903 S. Carr St., range officials announced.

The next scheduled shoot will be Dec. 28 at the Watkins Gun Club. Gun clubs interested in participating in such shoots were asked to contact Buzz Ward at 433-5153 or the Foothills Trap Club at 986-8857.

There'll be $4,000 for first prize riding on each of the four individual pro events, which again will be conducted under the head-to-head dual-salom format. There will be no newcomers of note on the pro tour this season—at least until the Olympics are over.

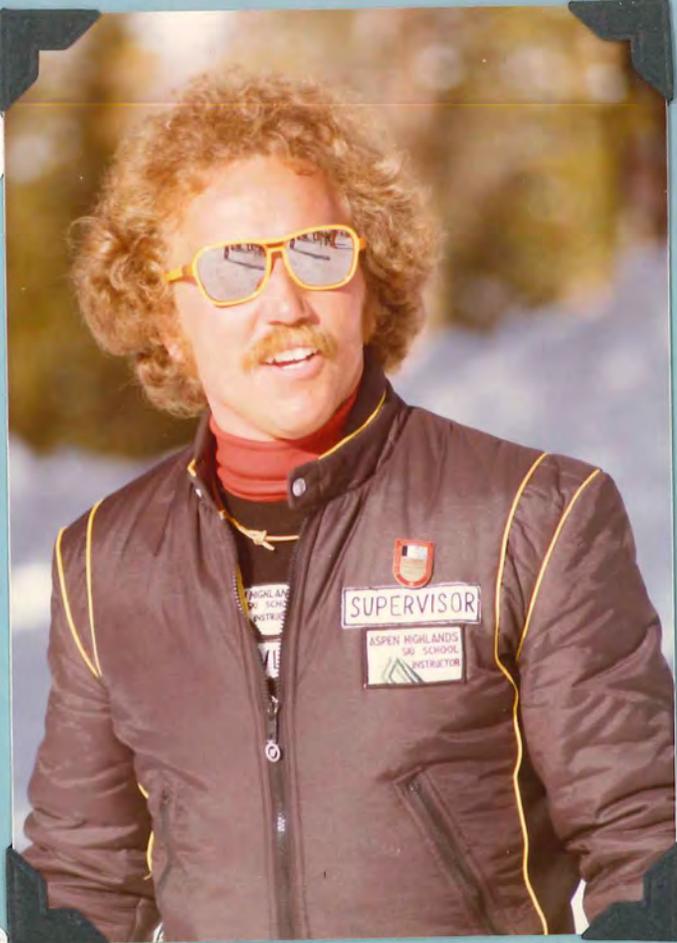

Charles W. Brinkman II
"Lefty" - Director Nov 75

Aspen Highlands Ski School

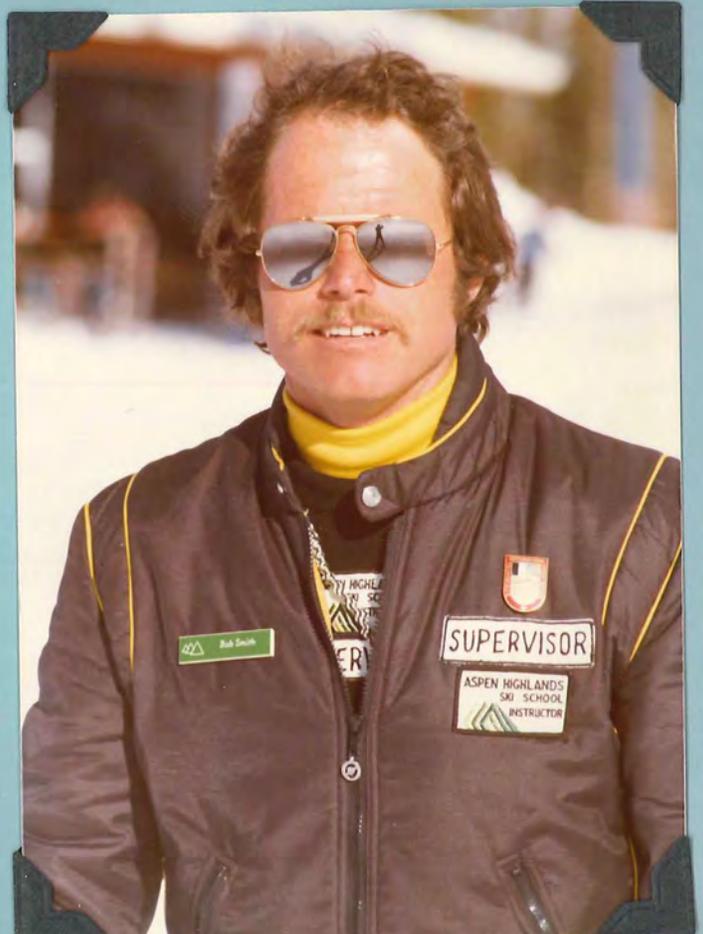

Robert Cutting

Dave Shuler (Squally Body)

Robert Smith "Smitty"

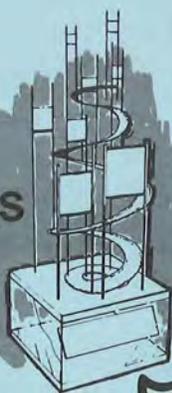

John Buegger

Bill Peterson - freestyle

DODGE

ASPEN/ASPEN HIGHLANDS
December 12-16, 1975

ASPEN CUP

DODGE ASPEN CUP SCHEDULE OF EVENTS

SUNDAY, DECEMBER 14— ASPEN HIGHLANDS

10:00 A.M. — Giant Slalom Eliminations
12:30 P.M. — Giant Slalom Money Matches

TUESDAY, DECEMBER 16— ASPEN MOUNTAIN

10:00 A.M. — Slalom Eliminations
12:30 P.M. — Slalom Money Matches

PROS GEAR UP FOR DODGE ASPEN CUP

(Aspen, Co., Dec. 2) . . . The $30,000 Dodge Aspen Cup in Aspen, Colorado opens World Pro Skiing's seventh season, Dec. 14, 16, with the renewal of one of professional ski racing's greatest rivalries — American Hank Kashiwa vs. Frenchman Henri Duvillard.

Kashiwa, 26, reigning pro titlist, and Duvillard, 27, runnerup last season, will duel man-against-man in giant slalom at the Aspen Highlands on Sunday the 14th, and race head-to-head in slalom on Aspen Mountain on Tuesday the 16th. The day off between events, a special feature of the Dodge Aspen Cup, means competitors will be rested and in top shape for both the giant slalom and slalom.

Aspen's own Spider Sabich, pro skiing's only two-time champion, also returns to competition in the Dodge Aspen Cup, following an idle 1975 season, the result of chronic right knee difficulties. Surgery has repaired the knee, and Sabich promises to be a threat on his hometown slopes; but the former champ, now 30, faces the challenge of a crop of new racers who matured measurably while he was out of action.

Other fearsome pros racing for the $4,000 in first-place prize money in the two events include: Swiss youngster Josef Odermatt, third overall last season; fourth-ranked Frenchman Jean-Noel Augert, perhaps his nation's greatest slalom performer; Aspenite Rudd Pyles, fifth in '75 and a strong local favorite; and Austrian Harald Stuefer, sixth last winter and a former events winner in Aspen.

Snow conditions are the best at the two Aspen race sites in several years, and all Dodge Aspen Cup events will be held on the lower portion of Aspen Mountain and Aspen Highlands. It's the first time that a pro ski event has been shared by two ski areas. According to Bob Beattie, Executive Director of the International Ski Racers' Association, "Highlands offers a long slope with varied terrain which is ideal for dual-challenge giant slalom; and Aspen Mountain's Little Nell, which ends at the edge of the downtown core, is a great racing slope with a course viewable from almost every building and business in town."

K2 FACTORY TEAM HOPES RIDE WITH SPIDER SABICH

He's been called the "K2 Racing Machine," and he's World Pro Skiing's only two-time champion. Spider Sabich, an internationally respected racer both as an amateur and a pro, is back to win again this season after knee injuries sidelined him last winter. And the hopes of Team K2 for victory in the 1976 Dodge Aspen Factory Team Competition rest heavily on this racer and his young teammates.

Sabich, 30, pro tour winner in 1971 and 1972, teams with Americans Terry Palmer, 23, a veteran pro and 1972 Olympian; former World Cup skier Craig Gorder, 23, a second year professional; and newcomer Bucky Kashiwa, 24, brother of World Pro Skiing champ Hank Kashiwa and himself a speedy contender, to makeup the 1976 Team K2.

"We've all been on snow and are skiing well," Spider commented before the Dodge Aspen Cup. "The other factory teams better not underestimate us."

Aspen Highlands teaches the real G.L.M.

ASPEN HIGHLANDS
SKIING CORPORATION

GLM at Aspen Highlands. The long and short of it.

At Aspen Highlands, we teach the real GLM (Graduated Length Method).

We begin by teaching thirteen basic parallel turning exercises on three-foot skis. Then we apply them on four-foot, five-foot, and finally traditional length skis.

GLM isn't just for beginners, either. It can be an excellent tool for intermediate skiers, who are having difficulty with parallel technique. Or for experts and racers who want to sharpen their technique.

NASTAR final race set here April 9-10

The eighth annual NASTAR national finals will be held here next spring, with races at both Highlands and Snowmass—the first time the finals have been held on two different mountains.

The races will be held April 9-10, with the first day's racing at Highlands and the second at Snowmass, adding "the challenge of a new course on a different mountain each day," according to Bob Beattie, head of NASTAR.

Eighty skiers will race in the finals—40 men and 40 women—in eight different classes, with three trophies awarded in each class.

The racers, ranging in age from 19 up into their 60's, will qualify for the finals by having the lowest NASTAR handicaps after entering at least three races during the season, at one of the 70 ski areas sponsoring NASTAR races.

Although NASTAR races are open to all skiers, the finals are only for skiers 19 and older who are not classified racers, ski area employees, or former NASTAR finalists.

Two men and two women racers in each of four age brackets qualify as finalists from each of five geographic regions. Age brackets for the finals are 19-29, 30-39, 40-49 and 50 and up.

NASTAR races are held almost daily in Aspen at one or another of the four mountains in the area.

Aspen Highlands has been the leading single NASTAR area in the country on several occasions, with more NASTAR entries than any other mountain.

In addition to regular NASTAR races, Highlands will hold NASTAR Plus races again this year, offering cash prizes.

In NASTAR Plus racing, entrants pay a higher than normal entry fee, which goes into a cash purse for the top finishers in the special event.

ASPEN HIGHLANDS
SKIING CORPORATION

Two Great Apres Ski Bars with Live Entertainment

Both located in the Highlands Base Lodge

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR BAR

PEARLY WHITE now playing

CLUB ROOM BAR (upstairs)
opening Friday, December 12

Dec 14 1975

Our readers speak

ski area

Editor
Aspen Times

Dear Sir:

Aspen is certainly lucky to have an Urban Economist on their payroll to protect the innocent citizens who want to be creative. It is a real shame that the 1946 City Council couldn't afford him, to write 5 page memos, so that Aspen could remain a non-ski town and maintain a "system balance", and maybe even just have a dirt road coming to town.

Little Annie is an excellent ski area, and the developers are locals who can and will do a first class job. It is inconceivable to me that a public employee can put out so many words without a sufficient number of facts. Mr Simmons might make a good politician, except that in my opinion he would be scared to get into a truly competitive situation and leave his cushy pay check that enables him to write drivel.

The "abuses of large ski lift operators" can come from a monopoly or "abuse" can come from governmental bodies (New York City) who believe in stifling new, creative endeavors, and being big brother to everybody.

Needless to say, I am for competition. I think that Aspen Highlands has kept Big Brother on. Little Annie will completely resent an unproductive job. Including such a job. ional Ge Nicholas dGerard H ki photograph onathan Wright entertaining in the

Starwood
Christian Endeavor Bar

For Apres Ski daily from 3:30-5:30 through December 24

ASPEN HIGHLANDS

The Dodge Aspen, a new car whose introduction was heralded by a pair of $15,000 pro ski races held here last week. Photo coverage of the car in the Aspen Flyer aroused the ire of pro race organizers by referring to the auto as "the first car ever to be named after a tree...ideal for the mountains with two-wheel drive and five inches of ground clearance." In a late-night phone call to Flyer editor Chris Cassatt a race representative demanded to know the source of a quote, allegedly from a Dodge official, "We've run out of animal names, our next car may be called the Dodge Pansy." Cassatt refused to reveal his source, saying "You've got to be kidding." Chris Cassatt photo.

Our readers speak

ski clinic

Editor
Aspen Times

Dear Sir:

At some time, most of us run into an organization—either a government or a corporation—which is self-serving and exploits individuals. Such encounters, and their resulting feeling of helpless frustration, are not uncommon where organizations act by a profit-motive or a power-motive. The last type of organization one would expect to be self-serving is a school, the primary function of a school being to impart knowledge rather than to receive remuneration. But, if I judge my recent experience in the ski instructor's clinic of the Aspen Highlands Ski School, I would have to believe that even schools can exploit.

The clinic was run in order to train skiers to be Highlands instructors. Almost everyone in the clinic had the hope of becoming an instructor. That hope cost each person $50, and if one had to rent GLM skis, it cost him another $5. Over 100 people entered the clinic, bringing over $5000 gross revenue to the Ski School, and the Highlands made more on food sales. If an organization has to augment its staff, should it make money doing so?

The Highlands gleaned about 35 people to teach over the Christmas holidays. Those 35 were considered to be the ones with the ski ability, the teaching ability, and the personality most suitable for a Highlands instructor.

The most blatant exploitation came on the third day of the six day clinic. Everyone who had paid to try and be an instructor was taken to the top of a steep ski run and expected to side step down the run, doing the exhausting work of packing down the deep snow. I was told that the small effort of all those people would make the run skiable for the rest of the year, as if that was a reason to do Highlands a favor. When I pointed out some of the inequity in the situation, I was told that even the director of the ski school and the wife of the owner of the area were packing out the slope, as if that fact should humble me into acquiescing.

On the last day of the clinic the director gave a truly admirable speech. He said that, with all the talent among the 100 or so people, a fine instructor might be overlooked in the final selection. If anyone feels shouldn't walk away discouraged. "Come and see me," the director said, "I could only respect you for it."

When I asked to be reconsidered, I was treated with shallow respect. After seeing the director in the morning, I was told, with a warm smile, to return at 4 PM. When the director met me at 4:30, I had to remind him of my purpose for being there. Anxious to be onto other business, he quickly suggested that I return on the 15th for another clinic. I still might have some respect for the ski school if I was given that advice when I saw the director that morning, or for that matter, when he gave his talk on the last day of the clinic.

David Perlman

Announcing the Opening of

The Buffalo Nickel at the Highlands Inn

Breakfast 7:30–10:30

Lunch 11–1:30

Dinner 5:30–10

Apres Ski 3–6

---

December 22–January 3

COMFORT STATION

(formerly at the Holiday Inn)

will be playing Apres-Ski 3:30–5:30

---

Aspen's Well Known

KEN MAYGINNES

will be playing from 6:30 on 925-5050

If you need transportaion, please call our number and ask for the Highlands van to pick you up as well as take you back home.

Mrs. Jones

chris cassatt photos

the aspen times

Dudu does it!

Henri "Dudu" Duvillard was the whole show last week at the Aspen Dodge Cup pro races taking back-to-back wins in the head-to-head racing...and making it look easy.

He even won one heat skiing backwards.

Duvillard goes for four in a row in this week's races, Friday and Saturday at the Highlands and Little Nell.

See Page 19-A for full details.

The biggest problem most skiers face today is learning how to have fun on their skis. They are so hung up about how they look or how the slope looks that they forget to enjoy themselves. As an instructor at Aspen Highlands for seven years, I have found that the new short skis help me solve this problem for many of my students.

The Graduated Length Method (GLM) of ski instruction used at Highlands has taken much of the drudgery out of learning. What used to be a system of rather hard work and meticulous concentration is now one of excitement and complete enjoyment.

Highlands bases its program on the Cliff Taylor Method, employing three-foot, four-foot, and five-foot skis. First day students start out on three-footers. Most of the learning, and most of the controversy starts here.

The greatest value of three-foot skis is that they give the beginner almost total freedom to experiment and get the "feel" of using different turns for different conditions. With these skis a great deal of variety is introduced in the beginning lesson. The student is asked to ski in every position possible, with weight forward, back, on the left foot, and on the right. They learn to use their ankles, knees, and hips for small, medium, and large turns. They learn up-weighting and down unweighting, and they learn to combine these fundamentals.

This is quite a change from the old snowplow (now called a gliding wedge) position where the student maintained the same basic position throughout the first one or two days.

After teaching a snowplow on long skis as well as the GLM method, I find that new students are able to obtain a substantial amount of control from the outset with the short skis. This has allowed me to play down the academic aspects of learning while emphasizing the practical, fun-making aspects. After just a few hours we can forget about the mechanics of making turns and direct our attention to enjoying the terrain, the scenery, and the feeling of floating on these tiny skis.

The short length of these skis makes them not only easy to handle, but safer than other skis as well.

GLM at Aspen Highlands~It Works~It's Fun!

Graduated Length Method of ski instruction is being taught at Aspen Highlands with great success for both the ski school and its students

By James Mokres

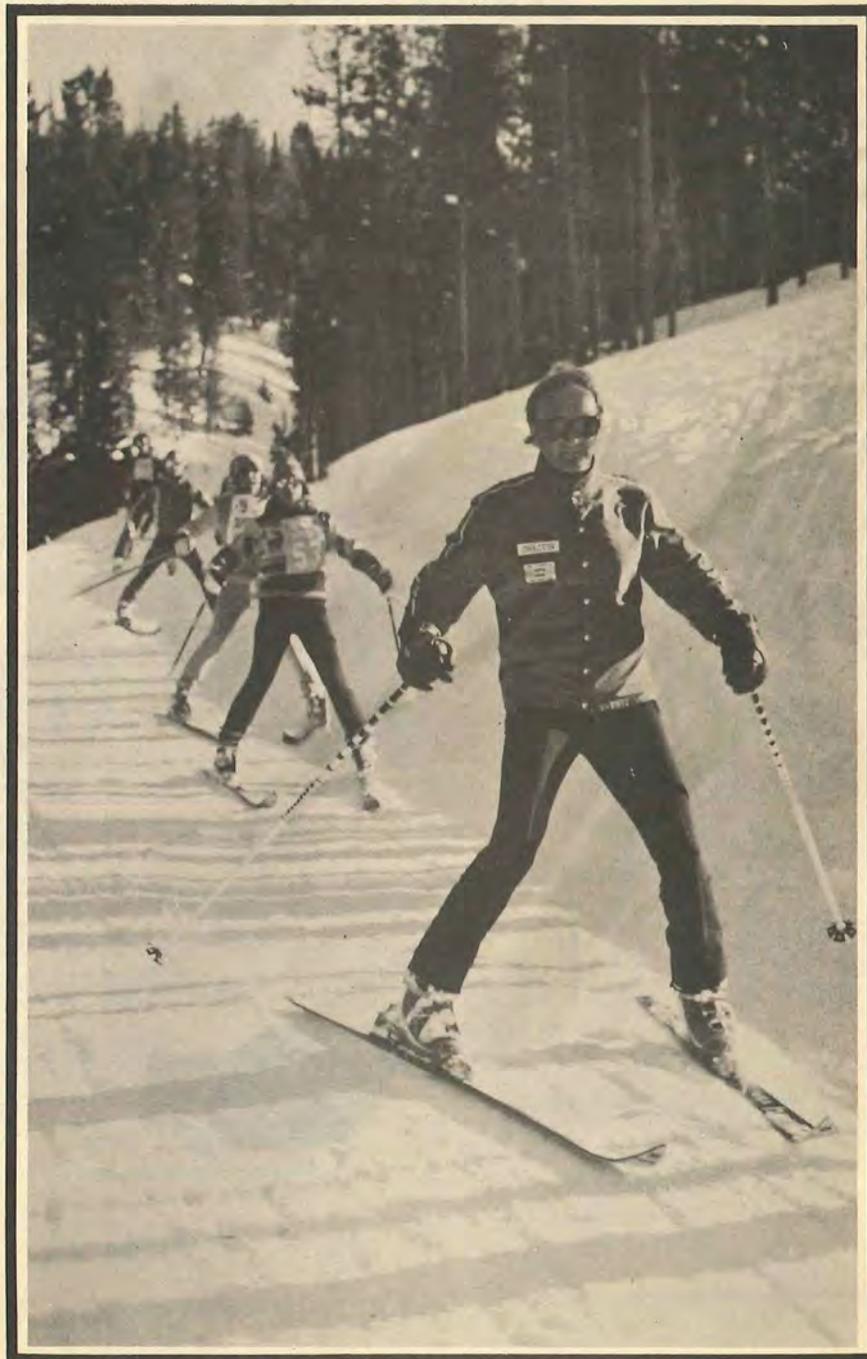

Photo by Andy Hanson — Pro Photo

Ski School Director, Lefty Brinkman, shows the way.

When students fall, the skis are always free of the snow. Since the ends do not get stuck in the snow, the ski never develops the twisting leverage a longer ski does. As a result, injury rates are extremely low. This gives the neophyte skier added confidence, and allows him to open up more than he would on longer skis.

After a fall, of course, there is getting up. The shortie makes this awkward maneuver much easier too. So falling and rolling in the snow is no longer the dreaded experience it used to be.

A positive attitude on the part of the student makes my job easier. Instead of conducting tedious drills and constantly looking out for areas which might overly tax the student, I am able to relax and have fun skiing with the class while continuously varying the terrain and the kinds of turns being made. This method of teaching is much more interesting for me. It is also less tiring. Consequently, my enthusiasm and my patience endure longer.

Undoubtedly the most exciting classes I have had are those full of people who have skied before and for some reason have come to an impasse in development. They may have been committed snowplowers, stem christie skiers, or even competent parallelers who could not seem to learn how to ski the new moguls. Most were unabashedly skeptical about what they were getting into. However, after even the first day they began to realize how much they did not know about skiing. Usually, when they stuck with the program for three or more days they found they could ski better on their own skis. But more importantly, they discovered how blissfully enjoyable skiing could be. Instead of fearing the moguls, they played with them. Powder snow was something to float in. And jumping off cornices was reality and not merely postcard images. In some cases those days were the first truly enjoyable ones in their whole skiing careers.

In spite of all the proven benefits of these short, short skis, there has been no little amount of criticism directed toward them. The most prevalent of these is the one that asserts the three-foot ski does not have the "feel" of a longer ski; that is, it does not "act like a ski" or provide a stable base to comfortably balance on.

This criticism is at best only partially accurate. The short ski does feel differently than a longer ski, in much the same way a smaller automobile feels differently than a larger one. But much of what is learned the first one or two days on it is directly applied to the longer skis in the sequence—and ultimately to full length skis.

Secondly, there is no need for a three-foot ski to provide a more stable base to stand on than that provided by an ice skate or roller skate (or foot). I have not heard critics suggest using a skate with a four-foot blade to learn on.

The three-foot ski is truly demanding of the beginner's balance. The shortness of the ski makes it impossible to sit too far back or too far forward without falling. This is actually beneficial to the student. He is forced to stand directly over the center of the ski in order to maintain balance, which is true of almost all skis. When a skier's center of gravity is positioned over the ski's center (with slight variations for terrain and snow conditions), maximum balance and stability is achieved. Those who do feel they need a longer ski to "balance" on are most likely not standing on them properly and not skiing properly.

The transition from shorter to longer skis generally presents no problem when the move is made at the right time. Virtually the same techniques are taught on each. The only difference is that the student must ski slightly faster and take a longer radius to turn. Also on the longer skis, a carving turn is used whereas the three, and to some degree, the four-footers are physically swiveled for turns.

It is nonsense to suggest that one cannot learn to ski with one particular short ski system or another. All techniques can teach people how to ski if they are inclined to learn. If any system was technically defective, it would not survive financially. Highlands has been particularly successful with its program, and other schools seem to have been successful with theirs. The beginning skier, then, has a choice of systems. He must pick that system with which he will feel the most comfortable, and that one which will give him the most enjoyment. I encourage him to try GLM.

A Joint Venture of Aspen Highlands Skiing Corporation and Aspen Skiing Corporation . . . Aspen Colorado 81611 (303) 925-4000 • P.O. Box 4546

Welcome to Aspen

Welcome to Aspen, former mining queen turned empress of the skiing world. A history of riches abounds in this colorful community. Now, Aspen skiers can stake their claims on one of the richest awards available to recreational skiers—NASTAR!

NASTAR

starts at noon

SCHEDULE OF NASTAR IN ASPEN

America's Largest NASTAR Center—Last winter the Aspen/Snowmass complex served three times as many NASTAR racers as any other area in the country. This winter, the Schlitz/NASTAR championships will be held at Snowmass and Aspen Highlands.

At Least Nine Races Each Week—Starting in mid-December, nine NASTAR races are held weekly—Aspen Highlands and Snowmass on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday; and Buttermilk on Monday, Wednesday and Friday. At mid-week, NASTAR events are staged on two or three mountains simultaneously. And in February and March, additional days of racing are scheduled to accommodate demand. Each competition begins at noon.

Special Aspen Leaf NASTAR PIN—Gold, silver and bronze NASTAR pins are awarded at each race. In addition, children and adults who earn a medal at each of the three Aspen/Snowmass courses (in as many tries as necessary) win a special large Aspen Leaf NASTAR pin. For skiers who are hooked on recreational racing, there's no place which offers as much action as Aspen.

TRANSPORTATION TO THE SLOPES

Both skiing corporations provide free ski shuttle buses to their respective ski areas.

Buttermilk buses leave Rubey Park every 15 minutes between 8:00 and 4:30. Outbound buses stop at Arthur's and the Aspen Villas on Main Street. Inbound buses stop at the Aspen Villas and the Innsbruck lodge on Main Street, and Rubey Park.

In the morning these buses will stop on demand at the Aspen Villas, the Innsbruck lodge, and the Swiss Chalet to pick up skiers bound for Aspen Mountain.

Snowmass buses leave Rubey Park every 20 minutes between 8:00 and 10:30, stopping at Arthur's on Main Street only. A Snowmass bus departs Rubey Park at 11:00 and 12:00 noon. Buses return to Aspen every 20 minutes between 2:30 and 4:45, stopping at the Aspen Villas and the Innsbruck lodge. Snowmass buses stop at lift number 11 in Snowmass, not the mall.

Aspen Highlands buses leave Rubey Park every 15 minutes between 8:00 and 6:00, stopping at Arthur's and the Aspen Villas.

Call 925-1220 for information on Buttermilk and Snowmass buses, and 925-7302 for information on Highlands buses.

NASTAR Registration will be held at the following times and locations:

Aspen Highlands: 3:00 to 5:00 day prior to race—9:00 to 11:00 day of race at Customer Service office	Buttermilk: 9:30 to 11:30 day of race at Cliffhouse restaurant	Snowmass: 9:30 to 11:30 day of race Alpine Springs restaurant
--	---	--

Recreational racers who win medals in any three of Aspen's nine NASTAR races each week also receive an attractive Aspen Leaf NASTAR pin.

SKI SCHOOLS

ASPEN SKI SCHOOL

The Aspen Ski School, the world's largest, provides classes for all classes of skiers. A special staff of instructors teach children at Buttermilk and Snowmass. Lessons are available in hot dogging, free-style skiing and racing. Special instruction for those with unusual learning problems is provided by instructors experienced in teaching the amputee, deaf, blind or otherwise inconvenienced.

Ski School rates:

One day class	$12.00
Children (12 and under)	10.00
Three day class	33.00
Ski Week (Five Days)	50.00
Private lesson, one hour (1 person)	20.00
Private lesson, one hour (2 persons)	25.00
Private lesson, one hour (3 persons)	30.00
Private instructor per day (6 hours)	120.00

ASPEN HIGHLANDS SKI SCHOOL

The Aspen Highlands Ski School, under the direction of Charles (Lefty) Brinkman, has over 100 professional instructors and offers the most modern and progressive system taught anywhere. Less formal and more oriented to individual needs, it mixes in the warmth and fun of Aspen so that learning is truly an enjoyable experience.

Rates

Full Day	$12.00
Three Day	30.00
Five Day	45.00
Children, 12 & under	9.00
Private Lesson	20.00/hour

Hours: 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. daily.

ASPEN HIGHLANDS Ski Area, Colorado.

Aspen Highlands, Colorado .

Race sponsors feel unwelcome here

The Dodge Division of Chrysler Motor Corp. may withdraw its support of the Aspen World Cup race March 12-14 because of hassles in Aspen during the past week.

Aspen Skiing Corp vice president George Madsen said Dodge had planned to loan six cars and 20 vans to bring racers from Denver to Aspen for the World Cup downhill, giant slalom and slalom events.

Madsen said that a series of recent events, however, makes Dodge feel a "lack of welcome."

First, a request by Worldwide Skiing Corp for permission to display the Dodge Aspen car in the mall was denied by the City Council.

Second, City Manager Mick Mahoney wouldn't let Dodge put a banner across Main St advertising the races (and the car). Mahoney does allow local sponsors of Aspen Ski Club races to put "commercial" banners up on Main St.

Third, someone painted "Detroit Go Home" in black letters on a silver Dodge Aspen car displayed in the Snowmass mall.

Finally, in an action in which Dodge is a sympathetic party, Budweiser was asked to remove a hot-air balloon from the Little Nell site of Saturday's races.

Actually, the balloon stayed. It was Mahoney again who objected to the commercialism, but it turned out that the balloon was not above—or moored to—city property, but was in the county.

Mick Mahoney

Mahoney said, "I looked out my window Saturday morning and saw that floating billboard, and it was clear in my mind that the balloon was in violation of a city ordinance. That ordinance prohibits any temporary sign of a strictly commercial purpose."

(Mahoney admitted that the banners over Main street for the Aspen Cup races—sponsored by the Bank of Aspen or KSPN or Little Cliff's—could be considered commercial. He takes responsibility for that decision, however, and argues that those races are "civic" in nature rather than commercial.)

"The Budweiser and Dodge signs are strictly for commercial purpose," Mahoney said, "and if it's within 100 feet of the city then it's my business."

"If it's a balloon," Mahoney continued, "Then it's subject to FAA flight regulations and cannot fly close to populated areas. If it's tethered, then it's a floating billboard."

Mahoney went to Patsy Newbury and asked her to look at the county's regulations regarding temporary signs.

"I said, 'If they're in violation, take care of it,'" Mahoney said.

When Newbury checked with County Commissioner Dwight Shellman, however, they decided that the ordinance was not really that clear on balloons. Shellman and Newbury agreed they should not serve the papers.

Madsen said Dodge was also considering TV sponsorship of the World Cup race here.

He said the Aspen Ski Club will be spending about $5,000 for air fare to get the various teams here for the World Cup, and for rental cars (one per team). If Dodge pulls out Madsen estimates it could cost from $15,000 to $20,000.

Monday evening an irate group of ski club officials appeared at the regular city council meeting to protest Mahoney's actions. In a statement presented to the council they stated: "Because of an unfriendly attitude toward commercial sponsors of the professional ski races held here last week, the Aspen Ski Club has lost $20,000—possibly much more—in sponsorship fees for the World Cup races scheduled here March 12-14."

Signed by Dave Stapleton, World Cup Meet Co-Chairman, and Tom Moore, president of the Aspen Ski Club, the statement added that "Much of this harassment was generated by the city council's representative, the city administrator."

It also said that loss of Chrysler Corp sponsorship might result in cancellation of the World Cup race by the ski club.

However, city council member Steve Wishart pointed out that, of the complaints listed, the City Manager was only responsible for disapproving the banner across Main Street and attempting to have the Budweiser balloon taken down.

After reading the statement Stapleton added that he felt the decision by Chrysler to rescind its race sponsorship was perhaps due to "an accumulation of community attitudes."

However, the City Manager did permit banners across Main Street with the names of local sponsors for Aspen Cup races and his refusal to permit a Dodge banner was discriminatory.

Mahoney explained that a city

Hot-air balloon soars over the Budweiser Cup races on Aspen Mountain last Saturday, leading to a bit of controversy. City Manager Mick Mahoney called it a "floating billboard." Photo by Chris Cassatt ordinance controlling banners did not permit commercial messages and gave him the right to decide which banners should be permitted. He had not considered banners with names of local race sponsors to be commercial, but had considered the proposed Dodge banner as commercial.

He also stated that he did not think race sponsors should be allowed to have floating billboards advertising their products above Main Street or above the city and that is why he had taken the actions he had. "Someone has to decide on what banners and what balloons are to be allowed."

Wishart explained that Mahoney had already been told informally by various members of the council that his attempt to have the Budweiser balloon taken down was a mistake.

At Michael Behrendt's suggestion the council agreed that a letter should be written to the Chrysler Corporation and Budweiser saying that the city appreciated their race sponsorship efforts.

Wishart emphasized that the letter should not be construed as criticism of the City Manager. "We give Mick latitude and should not consider the letter a criticism of his actions," he said.

ASPEN
HIGHLANDS

The HOT DOG CONTESTS

Start Again
at Aspen Highlands!

Friday, December 26
12 noon on Floradora

$750 Prize

20 Contestants

for further information call 925-5300

Anti-trust suit filed against Ski Corp

An anti-trust suit has been filed by the state attorney general's office against the Aspen Skiing Corporation and the Aspen Highlands Skiing Corporation, claiming that the two companies have fixed prices and created a skiing monopoly.

The suit alleges that the two corporations, as well as the Buttermilk and Snowmass Skiing Corporations, both wholly owned by the Aspen Skiing Corporation, have conspired to fix daily lift rates, discount prices, multi-area ticket prices, and package plan prices.

The suit also claims that the areas have conspired to fix the prices charged for ski instruction and have reinforced each other's policies "by refusing use of ski facilities to members of the public suspected of violating one another's policies, rules, and regulations."

Robert F Hill and John E Boyd of the attorney general's office are quoted in the Rocky Mountain News as saying that the actions have produced "artificial and noncompetitive" price levels.

They also reportedly said "consumers have been deprived of the benefits of free and open competition."

The suit asks the court to enjoin the defendants from further price fixing and other monopolistic activities and to require them to justify in writing any price changes in the next five years.

NO COMMENT

Aspen Skiing Corporation vice president Tom Richardson said he had no comment on the suit, since "the first I heard about it was on the radio news this morning."

Richardson said the corporation has received no official notice of the suit, which was filed Monday, Dec 22.

"I can't say anything about it," said Richardson, "I don't know what the hell it's about."

In what must be one of the worst days on record for the Aspen Skiing Corporation, the Forest Service announced Monday in an unrelated action, that the corporation must sell a season pass, which had been discontinued.

Full details on the pass decision are contained in an article on page 3-A of this paper.

LONG TIME COMING

The anti-trust suit grew out of an investigation started last spring by the attorney general's office, shortly after the corporations announced their intention to request identical daily lift rates of $12.

The $12 rate was disallowed later by the Forest Service, which did permit an increase to $11 for the Aspen, Aspen Highlands, and Vail corporations.

In allowing the $11 rate, Forest

Service officials admitted that the main justification for giving Aspen and Aspen Highlands the $1 increase was the fact that Vail needed the higher rate.

Service officials disclosed at that time that they had a contractual agreement with Vail and the Aspen areas never to give one area an increase without giving it to the others.

The attorney general's office had already started its anti-trust investigation by that time and one member of the office said, "If a private business did that it would definitely be price fixing. This looks like price fixing by a government agency and I don't know what we can do about it."

ASPEN HIGHLANDS
SKIING CORPORATION

Two Great Apres Ski Bars with Live Entertainment

Both located in the Highlands Base Lodge

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR BAR
Pearly White now appearing

CLUB ROOM BAR (upstairs)

AMAZED & BREATHLESS

The freestyle skiing champions who put on an exhibition at Highlands on Saturday showed their usual smooth effortless form on the gentle slopes at the base of Thunderbowl. The crowd was left amazed, excited, and breathless. The amazement due to the skiing, the excitement due, at least partly, to the free whisky handed out, and the breathlessness probably the result of the free cigarettes distributed at the affair.

The free Aspen Flyer

Tuesday, December 30, 1975

High & happy

The Sports Illustrated freestyle skiing exhibition at the Highlands last weekend provided plenty of whirling highs. Some were like this one provided by flipping freestyler Bill O'Leary. Others were provided by the free booze handed out as part of the affair.

ASPEN
HIGHLANDS

ASPEN
HIGHLANDS

ASPEN
HIGHLANDS

Aspen Times 1/1/76

Our readers speak

big building

Editor
Aspen Times

Dear Sir:

Does Aspen really need a new big office building? Maybe someone should think about pulling another rabbit out of the hat.

Bud Brownell
Aspen, Colo

ski clinic

Editor
Aspen Times

Dear Sir:

Mr David Perlman's letter of Dec 18 was an unwarranted and highly distorted picture of the Instructor's Clinic at the Aspen Highlands Ski School. Mr Perlman's major complaint appeared to center upon his investment of $50 to join the clinic and his expenditure of time and energy with no guarantee of "return," i.e., selection as a ski school instructor.

Let me say first that the Highlands Clinic does not promise employment to all participants. The clinic is a highly rigorous program and final selection of instructors depends not only upon successful completion of the physical requirements, but upon teaching ability as well. Teaching is an art. One must be able to relate to people and to have fun teaching and learning. Mr Perlman seems singularly unaware of these aspects of ski instruction. Being an expert skier does not necessarily qualify one as an instructor. It is understood from the beginning that only those who score highly in all facets of the program will become instructors. In fact, individuals who have taught at the ski school before may fail to qualify in a given year.

Generally people who enroll in any clinic or school do so from a desire to learn more and improve their own skills. Even Doctoral candidates are guaranteed neither a PhD degree nor a teaching position upon completion of their courses. In a ski school clinic, many skiers participate with no idea of actually becoming instructors. Mr Perlman stated that the clinic costs each participant $50, but he did not consider that this sum includes lift tickets for six days and expert instruction in advanced skiing and teaching techniques.

If he is resentful of the one morning spent in an exercise which appeared to him to be a slave labor device for packing the slopes, one glance around the ski runs should convince Mr Perlman that the morning was of more value as a conditioning exercise for himself than as a service to the slopes. In any area of the Highlands there are innumerable snowcats accomplishing the job far more quickly and efficiently than a handful of skiers could possibly do.

Sometimes, Mr Perlman, it is difficult to accept a professional assessment of one's ability which falls below our own expectations. It seems to me that the realization that you spent $50 to have your skiing self-image shattered is the real source of your complaints.

I have participated in the clinic at the Aspen Highlands for the past ten years. I have found that the ideas of the late Fred Iselin have been carried on with the same high standards and enthusiasm for improvement by the present director. It has always seemed to me that the major benefits of the clinic have gone far beyond the immediate issue of employment as an instructor.

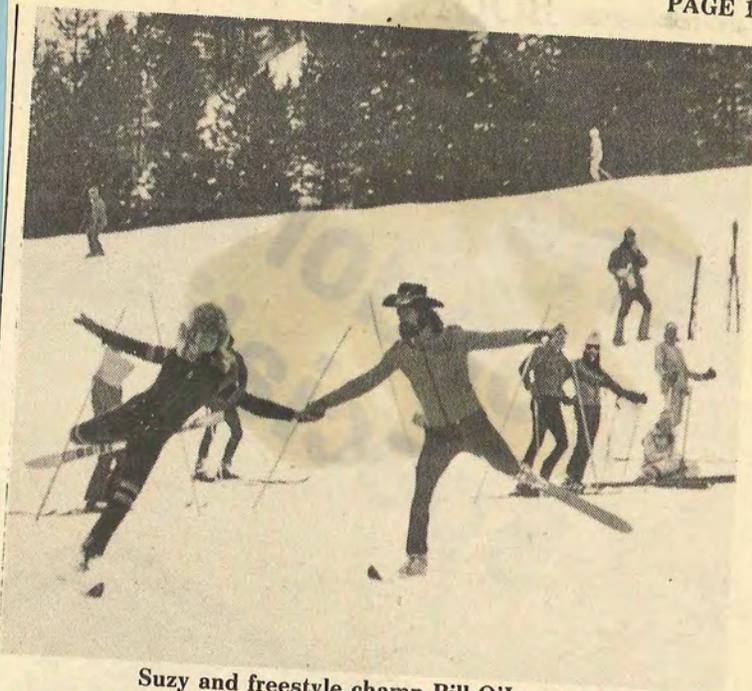

I advise you to try again next year, Mr Perlman. You resented the suggestion that you try again in the Dec 15 clinic. If you had honestly hoped to become an instructor, I think you would have been willing to try once more. Some of those who failed in the first clinic, succeeded in the second. It certainly seems worth the effort after all, where in these times can one find expert instruction and six days of lift tickets for $50. And, moreover, think of the fun! By the way, the second clinic was free.

Marv Lasky
Aspen, Colo

Aspen Journal 1/2/76

PAGE 19

Suzy and freestyle champ Bill O'Leary

ASPEN HIGHLANDS

SPECIAL SKI SCHOOL PROGRAMS

This season the Aspen Highlands Ski School will offer several special, fun programs primarily designed for Aspen area residents. They will be offered during the entire ski season.

- |  |                  |
|--|------------------|
| 1. Saturday Group Lesson   | $7.00           |
| 2. Saturday-Sunday Freestyle Clinic  | $15.00 total    |
| 3. Thursday-Friday Advance Skier Specials(includes a wine and cheese apres ski party at Highlands Inn) | $20.00 total    |
| 4. Private Lesson — 2 people — any day$5.00 for third person  | $20.00 per hour |
| 5 Local's clinic — 5 days — starts each MondayLong skis and Beginner GLM                               | $35.00 total    |

For more information on any of these special ski school classes, call 925-5300

The Above Prices do not include lift tickets

Friday, January 2, 1976

Aspen Highlands Freestyle Director Bill Peterson practiced what he teaches at last weekend's Sports Illustrated freestyle exhibition.

THE ASPEN JOURNAL

Freestyle skier Suzy Chaffee did her thing at Aspen Highland weekend. For a closer look at Suzy see Page 17.

Freestyle

Champion freestyler Bill O'Leary put on two exhibitions here last week, sponsored by Sports Illustrated magazine.

O'Leary wowed the crowds at Highlands and Snowmass with ballet and aerial flips on the gentle slopes.

Suzy Chaffee, another pro freestyle champ, also participated in the exhibitions.

Adding to the excitement of the event was a vast amount of free whisky which was distributed to the crowds.

Adding to the breathless nature of the crowds' wonderment was a vast amount of free cigarettes also handed out.

The crowd puffed and sipped, the freestylers flipped and whirled, and a good time was had by all.

Chris Cassatt photo.

Pro freestyle event at Highlands, Jan 18-20

A professional freestyle skiing competition will be held at Aspen Highlands Sunday through Tuesday, Jan 18-20, offering contestants cash prizes and a chance to qualify for top-flight Professional Freestyle Association (PFA) events.

The competition will be one of two "ingress" meets held during the winter to allow hotdog skiers a chance to join the PFA, which sponsors the main pro freestyle events.

The meet here, sponsored by Pabst beer and Aspen BOLD, will have competition in aerials, moguls, and ballet and the top three men and three women finishers in each event will be granted PFA membership.

One of the event's organizers stated that more than 50 skiers from across the country are expected to compete, as well as a large number of Aspen-area hot dogs.

Practice and registration will be held Saturday from 9 AM to 4 PM with competition starting the next day.

The ballet event will open competition at 11 AM on Sunday on the Smuggler run at the base of Highlands.

On Monday, the mogul competition will start at 11 AM, also on one of the lower runs on the mountain.

The aerial competition will close out the event on Tuesday, starting also at 11 AM and also on the Smuggler run.

All the competition will be held on runs at the base of the mountain, allowing spectators to watch the event without purchasing a lift ticket.

Entry for the event is still open at Highlands, with competitors needing to be over 21 and having proof of insurance. The entry fee is $65.

Thank
YOU

What's Doing in ASPEN and VAIL

By GRACE LICHTENSTEIN

COMPARISONS—Comparing Aspen and Vail is like asking a wine lover which he likes better: Château Lafitte-Rothschild or Château d'Yquem. The two wines come from the same general area, yet taste and look completely different; so do the two grand cru skiing areas of Colorado. Snow and high prices are two of the few things Vail and Aspen have in common. Aspen, the older of the two, is American skiing epitomized: an old mining town with Victorian gingerbread houses that has been turned into one of the neatest, liveliest winter resorts in the world. Vail is the young upstart: a total winter resort community created out of wilderness 13 years ago and deliberately designed to look like a Swiss village. (Actually, Vail now has two parts, the original Vail village and the futuristic Lion's Head section a half-mile away. The first resembles something out of Disneyland; the second is a bit 1984-ish.) Both Aspen and Vail have distinct ambiances. Aspen suggests Greenwich Village, writers, T.M. It has been called "Woodstock West," populated by counterculture vultures and John Denver-type celebrities. Vail, which suggests Short Hills, engineers and Dale Carnegie, has been described as "plastic Bavaria," populated by loud Texans and Gerry Ford-type Midwesterners. Both reputations are exaggerated, although Vail skiers do tend to be straighter and more courteous than Aspen people. Aspen's visitors tend to be more sophisticated and more casual. The most important point, however, is that both places are superb ski areas for every type of skier from beginner to expert. The weather is usually ideal at both. Each is so popular it's often hard to get reservations. If you have two weeks' vacation, consider spending one at each resort. (They are a two-and-a-half-hour drive apart, with regular bus service between.) Only one week? Don't try to do both areas. They are too big to appreciate in a quick stay.

GETTING THERE—This can be the rough part. Most trips begin and end on a Saturday. Thus Saturday is the best day to ski—no crowds. But arriving on Saturday can mean a hellish hour in the jammed baggage claim area at Stapleton Airport in Denver, gateway to both resorts. If possible, arrive at Stapleton any other day. Or plan to stay overnight in Denver (altitude, 5,200 feet) before going into the mountains (Vail and Aspen are at 8,000 feet), especially if you suffer from jet lag or have trouble adjusting to a high altitude. The Stapleton Plaza is a good airport hotel (from $33, double). From Denver, the simplest way to Vail or Aspen is by Continental Trailways bus, which leaves at regular intervals from the airport. Call Trailways at Stapleton (303-398-5305) to book a seat in advance. You cannot reserve through Trailways offices anywhere else. Reservations must be claimed a half hour before departure. The ride to Vail takes about two hours and costs $8.33 one way; Aspen, five hours, $14.14. You can also fly to either via commuter airline but this is a bit silly in the case of Vail, since the airport at Eagle is 35 miles from the resort. Both Aspen Airways (pressurized Convair 440's or 580's) and Rocky Mountain Airways (unpressurized twin Otters— you're given an oxygen mask) serve Aspen's handsome, convenient new airport. The flight takes about 30 minutes on Aspen Airways, 45 minutes on Rocky Mountain. If the weather is bad, the planes may not fly. Coloradans seem to prefer the little Rocky Mountain twin Otters. My experience with Rocky Mountain has been unhappy. I've learned not to trust their printed schedule of Aspen flights. However, Rocky Mountain runs many more flights than Aspen Airways. The one-way fare to Aspen on either airline is $31; about $10 less if you buy a stand-by ticket (not a bad idea in midweek). Only Rocky Mountain flies to Eagle (for Vail). The one-way fare is $22 plus $5 for limousine service from the airport to the resort. Aspen Airways in Denver: 303-398-3744; Rocky Mountain Airways in Denver: 303-398-3896. Unless you get withdrawal symptoms when you're away from a steering wheel too long, it is not necessary to rent a car. The drive from Denver to Vail can be snowy and scary. To Aspen, it's the same, only longer. And both resorts have free, frequent buses to take skiers around town and to the lifts. However, car rental agencies have offices at Stapleton, Aspen and Vail.

ACCOMMODATIONS—Visitors may book lodging through an airline, a travel agent or on their own. Airline package deals are convenient but not cheaper than a skier making his own arrangements can work out. A Trans World Airlines package to Aspen or Vail from New York, including round-trip air fare, round-trip bus fare from Denver, seven nights lodging (no meals) and a lift ticket for six days, will come to about $400 up, depending on the lodge or condominium included. For someone making arrangements independently, the easiest way to find accommodations is to call the central reservation phones: in Aspen, 303-925-4000; in Vail, 303-476-5677. Aspen has some 95 places to stay, Vail about 50. Groups of four to eight people would do well to rent a multibedroom condominium, with kitchen, which can be more comfortable and just as convenient as a lodge. High season condominium rates (now through April 2 in Vail, April 11 in Aspen) run from about $100 to $130 a day for a three-bedroom (six-bed) apartment. Some have saunas, heated swimming pools and other amenities—ask what you're getting for your money. If you don't have a car, aim for a condo or lodge within walking distance of the center of town. Lodge and hotel rates in both towns run between $25 and $40 a person per

THE SLOPES—Aspen calls itself the largest skiing facility in North America; Vail calls itself the largest single mountain resort. In any case, skiers will never be bored. Each area has hundreds of miles of slopes, trails, glades and beginner hills. The full-day adult lift ticket costs $11 and there is hardly a reduction for a week-long pass, but it's worth it. Having tried the Northeast, Europe and the West, I think Vail is the best designed mountain I've skied. The gondolas and chairlifts lead to slopes so cleverly connected you can ski from one side of the vast hill to the other and back in a day without ever taking the same run twice. And just when you think you've seen all of Vail, you discover the "back bowls" on the other side of the mountain—powder basins served by their own lift. Vail is primarily an intermediates' mountain (Ramshorn, Simba and Lodgepole are among my favorite long, wide runs) but most of the bowls are for experts. However, both the Game Creek and Northeast bowls have novice runs, so even the learner can get the feel of bowl skiing. Among the expert runs, Prima and Riva Ridge are justly famous. The latest innovation at Vail is the Children's Mountain at Eagle's Nest (take the Lion's Head gondola) with a snow playground and counselors to take care of the little ones. Also new: nature signs pointing out trees and wildlife along Lost Boy trail in the Game Creek bowl. While Vail is one gigantic mountain, Aspen is four separate ones. Ajax (officially "Aspen Mountain"), the hill rising directly above the town, is the oldest and world renowned. A na-

APRES SKI—In Vail, Donovan's bar is a favorite. In Aspen, my personal choices are the bar at Highlands (live music, pitchers of beer, dancers in ski boots), the Hotel Jerome bar (especially popular with Aspen residents) and the outdoor beer hall at the end of the main mall at Snowmass.

RESTAURANTS—There seems to be more good food in Aspen and Vail than in the rest of the mountain states put together, although the prices, to be sure, are on a level with New York's best restaurants, unless you like Kentucky Fried Chicken. A word of caution: beware of outdated reputations. I was disappointed at the Copper Kettle in Aspen, reputed to be one of the greats. On the other hand, I have eaten in the Ute City Banquet (typical Aspen décor, with plants, leaded glass and the teller cages from the original bank) for three years running and have enjoyed its continental menu each time. Dinner costs from $6 to $11.75, excluding drinks. Another Aspen favorite is Andre's, for either the best breakfast you ever ate (about $4) or an equally appetizing dinner ($10). Among this year's new crop of eating places, the Arya, in the Aspen Inn, is handsomely decorated, ambitious and tasty ($12). For a cheaper dinner, the Shaft (the specialty is ribs), at about $6, and Little Annie's (burgers, chili), for $3, are quite acceptable. In Vail, the Left Bank, despite its kitschy Mona Lisa and Eiffel Tower walls, has fine French food (entrees, $7-$11). The Gasthof Gramshammer Antlers Room features well-prepared game—elk, antelope, venison—at $10-$12.50. Less expensive but pleasant are Purcell's (seafood and steak), at $5-$11, and Hansel and Gretel (soups and omelets), from $4.25, both in Lion's Head, and the Clock Tower for steak in Vail Village, about $6 to $10.50 for dinner. To avoid hunger pains, make reservations early in the day at those restaurants that accept them. At others, eat early or figure on an hour's wait. There is one restaurant that I have never visited but nevertheless deserves special mention. It is Toklat, which is near the Ashcroft Ski Touring Center and a half-hour's drive from Aspen. The atmosphere here is of the mountain wilds, complete with a few huskies. There is one sitting a night, beginning with a hospitality hour and complimentary drinks at 6:45 P.M. The prix fixe dinner—$12.60—for which guests must bring their own wine, is at 7:30. After dinner there is poetry reading and storytelling. Reservations must be made six to eight weeks in advance. Call 303-925-7345. Toklat doesn't serve lunch.

day, without meals. In Aspen, I like the funky remodeled Victorian look of the venerable Hotel Jerome ($162 for seven nights); the heated pool and big rooms of the Continental Inn ($211), although sometimes it's a little too bustling with tour groups, and the hearthside coziness of the Fireside Lodge ($169, including breakfast). These rates include a lifts ticket for six days. In Vail, I recommend the Mark ($206), a super-modern, luxuriously appointed hotel in Lion's Head, and the Manor Vail Lodge ($185). I am less enthusiastic about The Lodge ($206), a combination of hotel rooms and apartments that includes President Ford's condominium. It is perfectly located in the heart of Vail, but indifferently managed and overpriced. Advice: make your trip to either resort during the cheap, uncrowded low season in April. The snow is usually just as good as in February.

CONDITIONS AND WEATHER

—Western snow is as fluffy, dry and reliable as the travel brochures say it is. Aspen and Vail weather is more often than not sunny, calm and from 15 to 40 degrees, except in January, when it can get cold, and in March and April, when the temperature can go as high as 60. In these two months skiers should guard against sunburn by smearing the face with a sun-screen cream and wearing sunglasses. For daily reports, check local radio or TV, your lodge or the central resort phone number. Or call these Denver numbers for recorded reports from all over the state: 303-893-2201 for snow conditions, 303-630-1515, weather. Incidentally, Colorado ski reports are honest almost to a fault. What Aspen calls "fair to good" an Easterner accustomed to being misled by New England optimism would dub "good to excellent." Colorado is spoiled because it expects perfect conditions, and usually gets them.

tional magazine recently called Ruthie's Run on Ajax the best ski run in the world. I would rank it a close second to Big Burn, the half-mile wide, tree-studded white heaven in the middle of Snowmass, Aspen's newest and biggest mountain, which is about 20 minutes by bus from the center of town. In between is Buttermilk, a smaller, mostly novice area that is especially pleasant on snowy or cold days because of its lower elevation, and Aspen Highlands, a wonderful piece of real estate with the most exciting chairlift in the region. It takes you to Loges Peak, 11,800 feet up, from which you have the Maroon Bells range as a backdrop for the inevitable snapshot. Ajax tends to be the most crowded and has too many inconsiderate hot shots, including many local employees, who like to scare the wits out of "turkeys" (visitors) by cutting in front of them at 40 miles an hour. But Ajax's slopes are fabulous and experts especially like the steep ridges of Bell Mountain. Ajax also has the best on-mountain lunch spot in either Aspen or Vail—Gretl's. Get there by 12:30 for the apple strudel. The four mountains are not interconnected, so you really have to choose one each day. The only criticisms I've heard about Aspen or Vail skiing are that the slopes sometimes get crowded (read the trail maps for suggestions on avoiding crowds) and don't offer much deep powder skiing.

LESSONS—The two resorts have three of the finest learn-to-ski programs in the West. All teach the graduated length method, which has a rank turkey on intermediate slopes on five-foot skis by the end of a week. Group lessons at Vail: $12 full day; private lessons, $17 an hour for one, $25 for two. At Aspen Ski School (Ajax, Buttermilk, Snowmass) and Aspen Highlands Ski School (particularly recommended); group lessons are $12 full day; private, $20 an hour.

NIGHT LIFE—Vail has never seemed particularly lively to me, while Aspen has enough happening at night to keep swingers awake until dawn. Each resort has a bar called the Slope showing W. C. Fields, Lenny Bruce and ski promotion shorts on a movie screen, and they're fun. Aspen has reasonably decent live rock music for dancing at the Depot and the Aspen Inn. It also had a great discotheque last year in the basement of the Jerome called the Rampage; this season it's called the Hotel Jerome Nightclub and has been given Western-style décor. The Paragon is a lovely wicker chair, art-deco drinking emporium, though the disco music is programmed amateurishly. Aspen's three movie houses show good taste in oldies and recent films. The only place I found worth losing sleep over in Vail was a multi-storied barn of a saloon, Gartons, favored by the hip young locals. There's drinking, dancing, old cable cars to sit in and shuffleboard.

SHOPS—Hang onto your credit cards; both towns are full of good clothing, ski equipment and gift shops. Purely subjective favorites in Aspen include Wax 'n' Wicks (the Aspen tree candles make a nice gift and the owner dispenses free apple cider to browsers), L'Equipe (sleek French ski wear at lofty prices) and Mountain Lids (handknitted hats and sweaters). In Vail, there's Gorsuch Ltd. (all-around good taste in ski wear and equipment) and Meadowlark at Lion's Head (leather bags, pottery).

FINAL NOTE—Gerald Ford is listed in the current Vail telephone book. John Denver is not listed in the current Aspen telephone book.

GRACE LICHTENSTEIN is head of the Rocky Mountains Bureau of The Times.

ASPEN TENNIS RANCH

at Highlands Inn.  Aspen, Colorado. U.S.A.

*This summer,
when the colors come back to the Rockies and the creeks run full with clear mountain water,
there'll be a great reason
for coming to Aspen:
Tennis at its best.*

Aspen has just about everything else. Ajax has dazzlingly difficult ridges and glades; Aspen Highlands has great variety, a terrific ski school and a breathtakingly lovely spot for a picnic at its 11,800-foot summit; Buttermilk is tailor-made for children and snow bunnies, and Snowmass is distinguished by Big Burn, one of America's most spectacular runs. Once a forest that was ravaged by fire, Big Burn is now a half-mile-wide trail that begins at the top of Snowmass and seems to go on forever. Dotted with small pine trees, it is a giant playground, and like most everything else in this land of crystal-clean air, soaring peaks and brilliant sunshine, is a Rocky Mountain romp.

*Summer Tennis
76*

Women's wear Jan 23, 1976

Aspen Tennis Ranch at The Highlands Inn

Right at the foot of Aspen Highlands. A great place to ski and a great place for tennis as well. With 6 championship courts and a ½ court for practice. And a full complement of other recreational amenities—from swimming to horseback riding.

The Season

The Highlands Inn summer season includes eighteen weeks of beautiful tennis weather. Warm, dry, sunny days. And cool, clear Rocky Mountain nights. Each week consists of seven nights and six days of hard tennis, exercise and relaxation. There are four hours of guaranteed court time a day including 2 hours of concentrated semi-private instruction from our staff of Highlands resident pros.

To help you tone up your game, Highlands Inn has a video tape facility to help you study your technique. Automated ball machines that speed up practice and insure consistent stroke returns. A comprehensive court table for positioning and strategy sessions. Instructional film to study proper execution. And we end each week of tennis with a challenging round-robin tournament.

Your Week

Of course, Highlands Inn has a lot more to offer than court time. Your week with us will include seven hearty breakfasts here at the Highlands Inn and two superb dinners at Aspen's world-famous Copper Kettle and Crystal Palace Restaurants. A summer lift ride up beautiful Highlands mountain. A welcoming cocktail party and a farewell awards banquet. A free concert for our guests during the Aspen Music Festival. And, of course, all the amenities you might expect from one of Aspen's finest lodges—a heated pool and sauna, an après-match cocktail lounge, and complete pro shop.

In addition, there's golf, fishing and hiking with a guide, jeep touring and mountain climbing all available at additional cost.

Aspen Highlands Conference Center

The Highlands Inn is part of the Aspen Highlands Resort Group. The Inn and the Resort Group Conference Center can take care of your every meeting and lodging need, whether you're a party of ten or two-hundred. Meeting rooms, audio-visual aids, excellent catering, and all the recreational facilities are here at Highlands and around Aspen.

For more information on our Conference Center write: Aspen Highlands Resort Group, P.O. Box T, Aspen, Colorado 81611.

Advantage, Highlands Inn

Certainly there are any number of tennis ranches you've probably considered for your tennis week. But Highlands Inn has one distinct advantage you won't find anywhere else.

Aspen. And all that comes with it. The Victorian atmosphere. The night life and the great restaurants. The riding trails and hiking trails. And the mountains that tower high above the aspens.

This summer, when the colors come back to the slopes, and the creeks run full with the clear mountain waters, there'll be a great new reason for coming to Aspen.

Tennis. At its best.

For a closer look at the Aspen Tennis Ranch, write or call for our free ten minutes film, "Tennis at Aspen."

Just what you might expect from a place like Aspen Highlands. And a place like Highlands Inn.

Rates

Double Occupancy . . . . . $475 per person

Single Occupancy . . . . . $525 per person

Group arrangements can be made upon request.

A limited number of reservations will be accepted for this summer season. We urge you to make your reservations now. By calling 303-925-5050. By writing Lefty Brinkman, Highlands Inn Tennis Ranch, Box 1168, Aspen, Colorado 81611. Or by contacting your local airline office or travel agent.

... and three deep powder bowls.

Aspen has just about everything else. Ajax has dazzlingly difficult ridges and glades; Aspen Highlands has great variety, a terrific ski school and a breathtakingly lovely spot for a picnic at its 11,800-foot summit; Buttermilk is tailor-made for children and snow bunnies, and Snowmass is distinguished by Big Burn, one of America's most spectacular runs. Once a forest that was ravaged by fire, Big Burn is now a half-mile-wide trail that begins at the top of Snowmass and seems to go on forever. Dotted with small pine trees, it is a giant playground, and like most everything else in this land of crystal-clean air, soaring peaks and brilliant sunshine, is a Rocky Mountain romp.

Women's Bean Jan 23, 1976

Editor
Aspen Times

Dear Sir:

May we through your newspaper take this opportunity to thank Aspen for making the Australian Ski Federation Junior Racing Program such a success.

We wish to say a special thanks to the Aspen Ski Club, and to the fine coaches they arranged to train the squad; the Aspen Skiers Educational Foundation; the Aspen Ski Corp; Aspen Highlands; the managers and staff of the Coachlight Chalet; Sabbatini Sport and to the many other locals who have assisted our group.

Hopefully in the future we can repay the hospitality shown by the families of Jack Millar, Jack Brendlinger, Pete Guy, Mrs Garrity and others who opened their homes to the young Aussies.

February 12, 1976 The Aspen Times

We look forward to the time when we have reciprocal arrangements with not only junior Aspenites who wish to train "Down Under" during your summer, but also the parents who wish to visit and in this regard those interested should contact us at the following address.

For and on behalf of the Australian Ski Federation junior training squad, America 1976.

Larry Rumble
Adrian Studley
13 Downes Place
Hughes
Canberra, Australia 2605

2/16/76

Star-crossed racer

This racer in the NASTAR plus cash competition at Aspen Highlands last weekend seems destined for a crash as his skis converge in the Celestial Seasonings Herb Te-Cup race. His destiny is written in the stars. Photo by Chris Cassatt.

Flyer

Tuesday, February 17, 1976

Aspen Highlands Ski School

ASPEN HIGHLANDS
SKIING CORPORATION

Aspen Highlands has long been recognized as having the most modern and innovative ski school in the world. We built our reputation on making ski instruction a fun experience.

Our new Freestyle Division, the largest and finest available anywhere, is breaking new ground in the instruction of ballet and mogul skiing—an increasingly popular segment of skiing.

Our long ski instructional technique still represents the best way to learn the fundamentals of skiing and the joy that comes with confidence in your own ability to ski any terrain under all conditions. We're continuing to improve our proven long ski approach with new innovations and techniques.

Our GLM approach is ideal for the beginning skier who wants to master the sport quickly and surely.

Come ski with us and see for yourself how we back up our claim to be the most complete ski school in the world offering group and private lessons in all three major disciplines—Long Ski instruction, freestyle, and G.L.M.

For further information call 925-5300.

Feb 17, 1976

Two Great Apres Ski Bars with Live Entertainment

Both located in the Highlands Base Lodge

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR BAR

Pearly White now appearing

ASPEN HIGHLANDS
SKIING CORPORATION

CLUB ROOM BAR (upstairs)

A run for the money

Ex-pros and future pros, former World Cup and Olympic racers, college champions, and local hot shots—both men and women—from Aspen and the rest of Colorado, neighboring Rocky Mountain states, and as far off as California and Canada, have been turning out at Aspen Highlands on recent weekends to compete in the Celestial Seasonings Herb Tea Cup and Highlands Cup cash-prize NASTAR races.

"It's the next best thing to the pro circuit for the guys, and the only pro racing I know of at all for the girls," says Skip Gilkerson of Highlands "and the competition is really stiff."

The men's competition started last winter and this year there have been up to 50 racers signing up each week to vie for a portion of the $600 purse.

The women's event started just two weeks ago, and last weekend there were 20 racers competing for the $300 purse.

The races are run on side-by-side courses, over two pro-type jumps, although racers are competing for time, rather than in head-to-head elimination type racing.

Entrants run first in time trials, with each racer having a single run and the top performers on each course moving into the final round of competition.

In the finals, each racer runs twice—once on each of the courses—and the times are totaled to decide finishing positions.

Men's winner two weeks ago was Pike Christensen, a former Norwegian Olympic and World Cup racer, while this week's winner was Marlin Ross, who—according to Gilkerson—hasn't yet turned pro only because he's still two years below the pros' age-21 minimum.

Rick Simpson, who placed second this week, is a Canadian racer who is spending the winter here, competing in the Highlands races and training for a future pro bid.

"We're trying to make it a special event, so even those who don't have much chance of winning still get their money's worth," said Gilkerson, who mentioned such features as blow-by-blow race announcing and video-taping of the races for showings later on.

Celestial Seasonings put up the basic backing for the men's races, while local businesses add to the purse each week. The women's races are funded entirely by Highlands.

Entry fee for the races is $5, with sign-up held the morning of the event—Saturday for the men, Sunday for the women.

This weekend's top finishers were:

MEN: 1 Marlin Ross, 2 Rick Simpson, 3 Jerry Shimmer, 4 Mark Hesselschwerdt, 5 AD Fuller.

WOMEN: 1 Cynthia Wright, 2 Chris Leddy, 3 Kathy Brinkman, 4 Anne Carter, 5 Anne Vores.

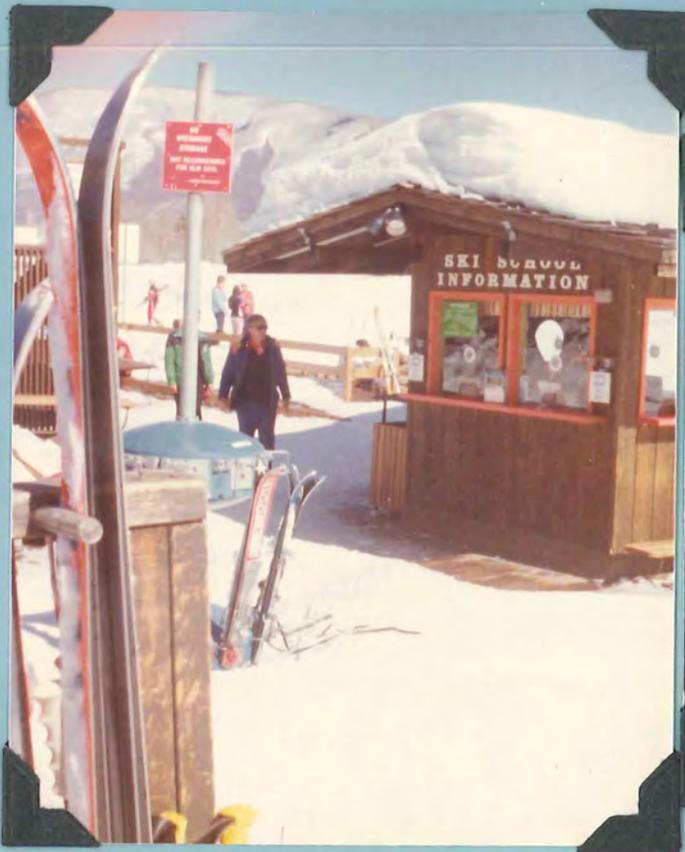

walkway to GLM shop
Highlands Inn
February 1976

Highlands Inn Pool
Pool Feb 1976

February 1976 — Base Area —

Timing Shack for Pro Shop
February 1976

aspen
airways

AND
HIGHLANDS INN

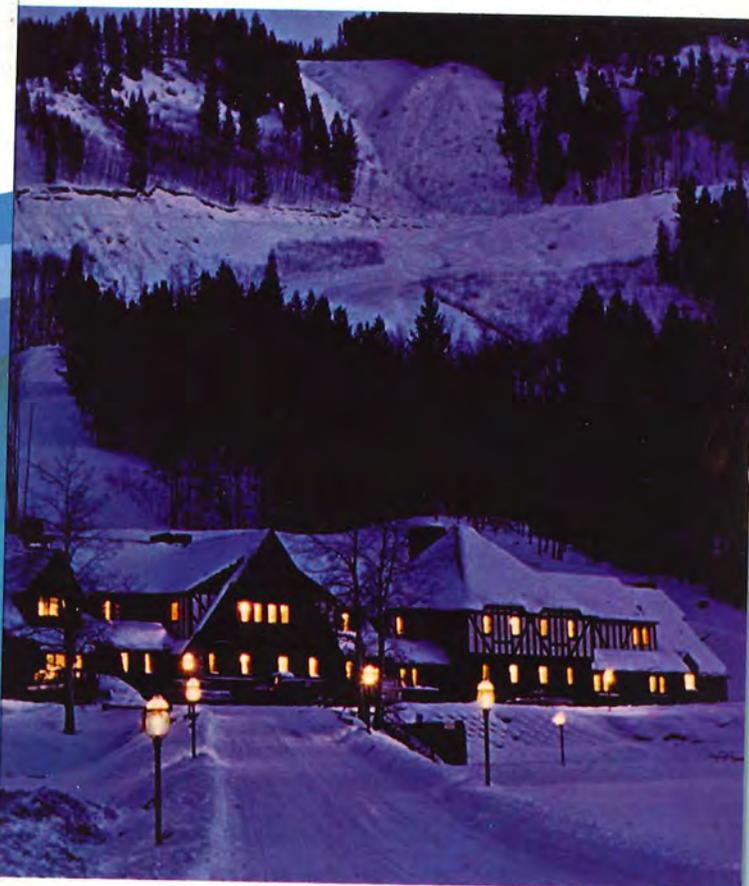

INTERLINE

SKI WEEKS

 CONTINENTAL AIRLINES

HIGHLANDS Inn T.M.

Aspen's only luxurious accommodation located at the base of Aspen Highlands Ski Area.
Ski to and from your hotel — in the quiet grandeur of the Rocky Mountains.

P. O. Box 1168      Tel. (303) 925-5050
ASPEN, COLORADO 81611 U.S.A.

TO OUR INTERLINE FRIENDS:

Here is a great way to learn to ski or improve your present level of skiing. Ask any of the Interliners who went last year -- They are raving about how much they learned and the fun they had. Aspen Airways and the Highlands Inn are offering a GLM package for Interliners, spouse, children and friends. So that you will get the most out of it, we hold each week to a maximum of 150 people -- first come first served.

If you are a beginner, you will take the complete authentic GLM (Graduated Length Method) and graduate at the end of the week able to handle most slopes at Aspen. If you are already a skier, you can take lessons on your own skis, or take three days of GLM skiing and finish the lessons on long skis, or ski on your own.

For non-airline friends, Highlands Inn has made the ground package available to full fare passengers traveling with you -- girlfriends, boyfriends, or just plain friends.

Sincerely,

ASPEN AIRWAYS, INC.

Harold W. Mallet, Director Agency/Interline Sales

PACKAGE FEATURES:

- 6 Nights Lodging
- 5 Days Ski Lessons
- GLM Ski Rentals, Boots, and Poles
- 5 Days Lift Tickets
- GLM Home Practice Kit (mailed in advance)
- Transportation Airport to Highlands Inn
- Wine and Cheese Party At Top of Mountain
- Swimming Parties
- Airline sponsored parties each night
- Ice Skating or Curling Instruction by Lefty Brinkman (you pay admission)

Not Included:

- Meals, Tips, Tax and Personal Expenses

DATES:

- Arriving Mar. 30th -- Departing April 5th, 1976
- Arriving April 5th -- Departing April 11th, 1976

COST:

- $139.00 Dorm Room 3 to 4 Maximum
- $159.00 Standard/Deluxe, Double Occupancy
- $169.00 Condominium in Town of Aspen, 4 to 6 Maximum

TRANSPORTATION:

ASPEN AIRWAYS -- Round Trip Space Available transportation Denver/Aspen. Present letter of employment verification to our ticket counter in Denver along with service charge of $11.00 per person or send a check along with employment verification to Harold W. Mallet, Director Agency/Interline Sales, Aspen Airways, Inc., L. A. Int'l. Airport, P. O. Box 92186, L. A., California 90009.

CONTINENTAL -- Aspen Airways has arranged a special offer whereby Continental is offering service charge transportation to Denver, $20.00 round trip, from any Continental city (except Honolulu) to all eligible employees, spouse, and children of ATA & IATA carriers serving the USA. Request should be directed separately to Continental Airlines Pass Bureau, International Airport, Los Angeles, Ca., 90009, on your carriers request form with the notation "ASPEN AIRWAYS/HIGHLANDS INN SKI WEEK."

ELIGIBILITY:

All airlines employees, spouses and children.
All Travel agents with transportation through normal ATC channels.
Non-airlines friends (ground package only).

ASPEN AIRWAYS TRAVEL REQUEST FORM:

I would like to take advantage of Aspen/Highlands Inn Ski Week:

FULL NAME OF EMPLOYEE: _____

EMPLOYER _____

JOB CAPACITY _____

OFFICE ADDRESS _____

CITY _____ ZIP _____

HOME ADDRESS _____

HOME PHONE _____ OFFICE PHONE _____

FULL NAME OF FAMILY MEMBERS _____

DATES YOU INTEND TO TRAVEL

MARCH 30th -- APRIL 5th

APRIL 5th -- APRIL 11th

*Letter of employment verification plus full payment (check or money order) should accompany request form.

MAIL TO: ASPEN AIRWAYS, INC.
INTERNATIONAL AIRPORT
P.O. BOX 92186
LOS ANGELES, CALIF. 90009

HIGHLANDS INN HOTEL REQUEST FORM:

FULL NAME OF EMPLOYEE: _____

HOME ADDRESS _____

CITY _____ ZIP _____

FULL NAME OF FAMILY MEMBERS _____

- $139.00 DORM ROOM 3 TO 4 MAXIMUM
- $159.00 STANDARD/DELUXE ROOM, DOUBLE OCCUPANCY
- $169.00 CONDOMINIUM 4 TO 6 MAXIMUM (with kitchen & living room facilities)

DATES YOU INTEND TO TRAVEL

MARCH 30th -- APRIL 5th

APRIL 5th -- APRIL 11th

*Full payment (check or money order should accompany request form.

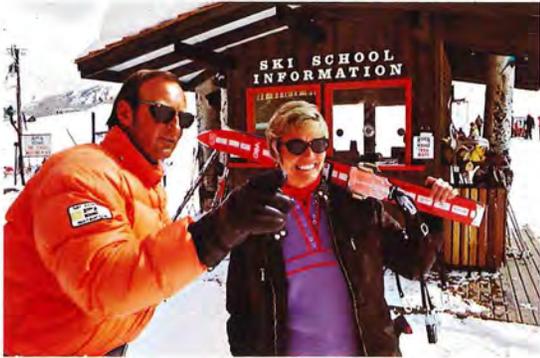

CANCELLATIONS:

Two week cancellation necessary for full refund.

MAIL TO: CHARLES (LEFTY) BRINKMAN
THE HIGHLANDS INN
P. O. BOX 1168
ASPEN, COLORADO 81611
Phone -- (303) 925-5050

SKI WITH LEFTY

Charles W. (Lefty) Brinkman II, world famous ski instructor, is Director of the ASPEN HIGHLANDS SKI SCHOOL . . . the first ski school in Aspen to introduce the GRADUATED LENGTH METHOD OF SKIING.

“Lefty” is also your genial host during your stay at Highlands Inn.

Aspen Highlands Ski Area, longest vertical drop in Colorado, 3,800 ft.

The massive fireplace dominates the lounge of luxury. Here you may warm-up, socialize, or relax.

Attractive spacious rooms invite family vacationers. Fireplace suites. Doubles. Intimate dormitory space. Clever kitchenettes.

Dine in one of Aspen's most palatable restaurants while viewing the Aspen Highlands Ski slopes in winter and the tennis courts in summertime.

At HIGHLANDS INN, the heated pool is open summer and winter.

ASPEN TENNIS RANCH

at Highlands Inn.  Aspen, Colorado. U.S.A.

*This summer,
when the colors come back to the Rockies and the creeks run full with
clear mountain water,
there'll be a great reason
for coming to Aspen:
Tennis at its best.*

HIGHLANDS Inn

P.O. Box 1168
Aspen, Colorado
(303) 925-5050

TARIFF SCHEDULE

Low Season Rates: Nov. 23 - Dec. 20;
Jan. 4 - Feb. 7; April 5 - 11

Double with fireplace, kitchenette, bath:	$ 34
Double with bath:	$ 20 - 32
Dormitory (per person):	$ 8
Additional person:	$ 6

High Season Rates: Dec. 21 - Jan. 3;
Feb. 8 - April 4

Double with fireplace, kitchenette, bath:	$ 42
Double with bath:	$ 28 - 40
Dormitory (per person):	$ 9
Additional person:	$ 8

HONEYMOON SUITE – CONNECTING ROOMS SUITES

No Pets Please

Highlands - Aspen Ski Corp Hockey Games
February 1976 - 2-3

Cheerleaders
Craig Hollingsworth Tamara Erik Jensen Karen Nelson

World Cup
March 1976

Aspen Times March 18, 76

Gustavo Thoeni rode the lift to the top of the Aspen Highlands' slalom course hoping for a victory that might keep him in the running for his fifth World Cup title, but when the day was over, the victory, and the World Cup, went to Ingemar Stenmark. Chris Cassatt photo.

World Cup

who combined a

SIDE: activities, restaurants, night life, movies, snow conditions, map and real life thrills

The free Aspen Flyer

Tuesday, March 23, 1976

Hot Dog!

The Aspen Cup Series ended last weekend with a hot dog contest for the Aspen Cup competitors who are all local youngsters between the ages of six and 14.

The Cuppers spent two days at Highlands crashing through the bumps, spinning down the ballet slopes, and leaping through the air in a wide variety of strange, impressive, and occasionally unintentional positions.

Chris Cassatt photo.

It takes all kinds...

Mary

Dear Mrs. Jones,

I would like to thank you again for thinking of me while I was in the hospital. The flower arrangement was beautiful and really meant a great deal to me. Thank you also for the lunch that Lisa  and I had yesterday. your thoughtfulness warms me.

I wish you a healthy, sunny summer to enjoy some free time. Thanks again
Mrs. Jones.

...but your kind
is the nicest!

Sincerely,
Wendy Nelson

Aspen Cup closes with hot dog contest

A hot dog clinic and contest, the final events of this winter's Aspen Cup Series, were held last weekend at Aspen Highlands.

All day Saturday and Sunday morning were devoted to instruction for contestants in the three disciplines of hot dog skiing—ballet, moguls, and jumps.

Throughout the weekend, the competitors, ages 10 through 13, learned new tricks, while battling the weather, which provided changing conditions, icy snow, and high winds.

The contest started shortly after noon on Sunday and was judged by Steve Jones, a Highlands freestyle instructor, Hans Peterson, and Ken Sawyer, head age class coach for the Aspen Ski Club.

John McBride, competing in the 11-year old boys class took the overall boys award for the day with a total of 65.5 points.

Jill Anderson in the girls 11 class and Mary Brennan in the girls 12 class tied for first overall among the girls, with 51.1 points.

In the boys 13 class, Bart Garton took first place with 55.5 points, with Ned Bonzi second.

Mark Thorpe took first place in the boys 12 class with 56.5 points, followed by Eric Brendlinger and Todd Bosgraaf.

McBride took first in the boys 11 class, with Svein Nostdahl second and Mads Buck third.

The boys 10 blue ribbon went to Jeff Poe, with had 54.0 points, while second place was taken by Billy Madsen, with Jon-Eric Greene third.

In the girls competition, Jill Gibbons won the 13 year old class with 45 points, followed by Debbie Anderson and Karin Nostdahl.

Brennan took the girls 12 class, with Sarah Carlson second and Katy Greene third.

Anderson was first in the girls 11 competition, followed by Stacy Bosgraaf and Cecily Garrity.

The girls 10 class went to Missen Brucker, who had 45.5 points. Jill Balance was the secret as Aspen Cup competitors tried their hand at hot dogging in the final Aspen Cup event of the winter. Local youngsters competed in ballet, trick jumps, and mogul runs in the two-day event at Aspen Highlands. Chris Cassatt photo.

Cass took second in that class.

The annual Aspen Cup banquet was held last night, Wednesday, March 24 at the Plum Tree Inn, closing out the season of age class competition.

Dear Whip & Vivian —

From all of

Highlands DISTRICT

April 1976 —

We had a great time,
Thanks much —

Thoughtfulness is someone who thinks up nice things to do and then does them.

Lynn Britt      Judie Olson
 Sue Gouin      Yee Wick
 Tom Williams      Bill Buehler
 FRED VEREKE      Dieter Bailey
 Janis Clark      Marty Johnson
 Ada Toland      Rip Holmes
 Florence, Keller
 Marty Kellan      Hans Thomsen
 Ray Island      Tom Hodes
 Ron Schuler      Eric Rosolack
 Don Regester      Richard Stark
 Sue Clark      Dr. Jack + Belgida Freshman
 X J. Mohan      Bob Murkin
 Bonnie Saunders      Budget Quinn
 Pat Carey      Michael Carey
 Judy Hanson      Janice Salo
 Barbara Dolan      Tom Good
 Dennis Ford      Jerry Holgood

Pat Hopkins      Larry + Janie Fisher
 Bob Cutting      Peter Kelley
 Eve & Co.      "Squatty", Lynn Hooley
 Chris Waryk
 Anne Jern      John Bruggen
 Robert Rome
 Larry Jones      Doug Carlson

You do the nicest things!

Anne Carter      Dan Dienst
 Smitty + Glenda      Margaret Campbell
 George Manuel      Barb Wyatt
 Ken Davis
 Bill Fontana      Craig Fitzgerald
 Bill Mours      David Mailhot
 Ron Bivens      Larry Gomese
 Sandra G.      Richard Hanna
 Tamara A. Hazleton      Bill Jander
 — J. Prude —

Aspen women clinch freestyle titles

Two Aspen skiers, members of the Aspen Highlands Freestyle Team, have clinched first and second position in the season's overall Women's World Freestyle Championships of the Professional Freestyle Associates in competition last weekend in Telluride.

Marion Post finished first in the women's combined standings at the Telluride meet and, with one more meet left on the tour schedule, has nailed down first in the combined and first in the ballet standings for the season.

Joanie Teorey placed second in the combined standings at Telluride, after placing first in the aerials, to clinch second overall for the season and first in aerials for the year.

The women's victories came after a season of eight meets in the US and Europe under the sponsorship of the Professional Freestyle Associates.

Post is originally from Averill Park, NY, while Teorey is a native of Minneapolis, Minn, according to Bill Peterson, freestyle director at the Highlands, but both women, he added, train and ski at Highlands.

BRINKMAN AT VAIL

Meanwhile, a third member of the Highlands team, Cathy Brinkman, finished in first place in the Budweiser Freestyle World Championship qualifications at Vail.

Brinkman, daughter of Highlands Ski School director Lefty Brinkman, finished first in the ballet competition and second in the mogul run to take first place in the combined standings.

The finals in the Vail competition will be held April 10 and 11 and Brinkman will be in line for $8400 in prize money if she repeats her first place performance.

LADIES FIRST

The female members of the Highlands Freestyle Team have set the pace for the squad this year, as both men on the team, Ed Lincoln and Dan Pierce, have had "disappointing seasons," according to Freestyle Director Peterson.

Lincoln, he noted, has been out of competition for half the season with a broken ankle.

Pierce, a winner in early hot dog contests held here on Aspen Mountain, "should have trained harder," for this year, Peterson said, noting that freestyle competition has become "harder and closer than ever."

NEXT YEAR

Peterson said that Highlands will hold a Freestyle Training Center for two months preceding the start of next winter's ski season.

The clinic will start in October with dryland training in gymnastics, as well as flip practice into swimming pools.

Freestylers learning new aerial maneuvers, Peterson said, first practice their flips and twists jumping off mini-trampolines into the water.

Later, on skis, they go off artificial jumps into the water and then, finally, they try the tricks on the snow.

In November, as conditions permit, the members of the training camp will move up to the top of Independence Pass to begin on-snow training, especially in ballet.

Peterson stated that all the top corporation-sponsored freestyle teams have already signed up for the Highlands sessions, which will be led by Peterson and Lefty Brinkman.

NASTAR finals slated at S'mass, Highlands

The NASTAR finals will be held in Aspen, April 8-10, with the races at both Highlands and Snowmass.

Eighty recreational skiers were selected this week for the free trip to Aspen out of some 80,000 who raced in NASTAR events throughout the country this season.

The Eight Annual Schlitz-NASTAR finals is the championship for recreational skiers.

Competitors are selected according to the two lowest handicaps in the four adult age categories in NASTAR's five geographic regions.

The ages of the finalists range from 19-68, and include representatives from 20 different states and 28 ski areas.

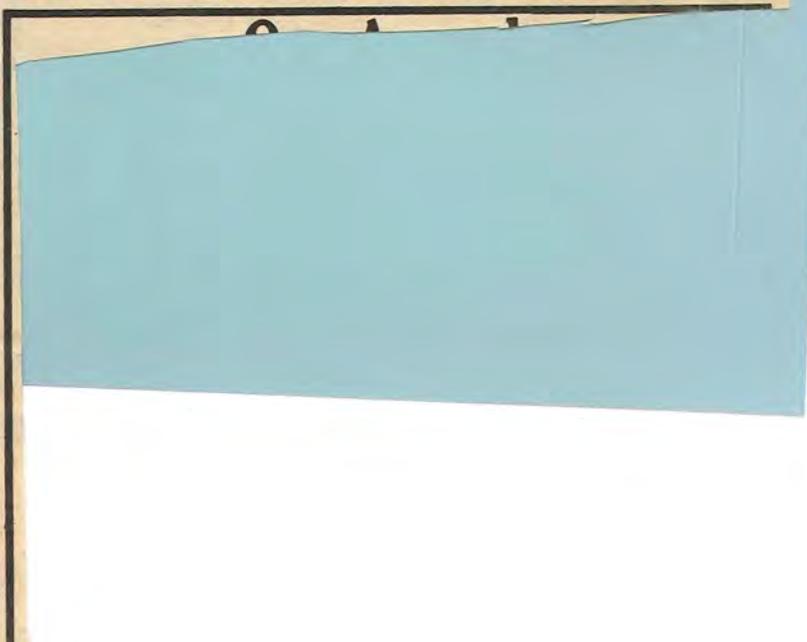

Three runs will be made at Highlands Friday, April 9, starting at 11 AM, and two runs will be made the next day at Snowmass, beginning at 10 AM.

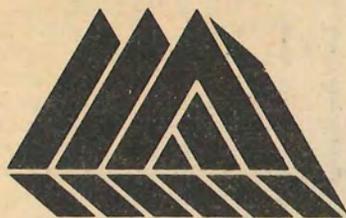

The racers will be competing for gold, silver, and bronze Schlitz cup, with their four best handicaps counting for scores.

This year's championships will see several new competitive twists. Not only have a husband-wife team qualified from California, but for the first time, two brothers from Vermont have qualified in the same age group. And for the first time in the history of the Schlitz event, a black skier, a 52-year old woman from Minnesota, will also be making the trip to Aspen.

ASPEN
HIGHLANDS

The HOT DOG CONTESTS
at Aspen Highlands!

Every Friday

12 noon on Floradora

$1,000 Prize

20 Contestants

for further information call 925-5300

April 1976

W.V.N. Jones

Are cordially invited to the 1976 Annual Aspen Highlands Skiing Corp.

Employee party at the Crystal Palace on Sunday, April 4th at 6:30 p.m.

Please Be Prompt

Present this invitation at door for admission

many-go-round

Mugger lift
new 1976

Loading terminal
mugger 76

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Francis Martori request the honour of your presence at the marriage of their daughter

Nancy Anne

to

Mr. Charles Weston Brinkman II

on Saturday, the twenty-fourth of April at half after five

Paradise Inn

6150 East Camelback Road

Scottsdale, Arizona

Reception immediately following

World Cup Races
march 1976

Finish Area

Teddy Armstrong ?

Magne Nostdahl - Steinhilber

World Cup

Eve Lamm

Nancy Olsen

John & Scott Poppell

World Cup

Klanmer

Gov Lamm T

Gov Lamm ↑
Ruth Whyte →
Tage Aderson

De Oden →

Dear Mr. & Mrs. Jones,

Just a little note to express my sincere appreciation for your continued thoughtfulness towards your employees which, I am happy to say, I am one.

I attended the Crystal Palace which I enjoyed immensely. This, I am sure, was a very effective affair and I certainly feel that it was a truly fine "bonding".

Although I have now been employed with you for three years, I have never found the words nor the opportunity to merely say.....
"Thank You"

Respectfully,

Bobbie Kuhn
(from the ticket office)

Highlands team takes first in Spring races

Hans Schwartz and Anne Carter led their Aspen Highlands team to first overall last week in the Annual Spring Classic ski race at Breckenridge.

Competing against 15 other teams from across the state, the Highlands team of Schwartz, Carter, Billy Dittmar, Doug Carlson, and Bill Peterson posted the lowest combined time total on the dual format GS course.

In addition, Schwartz had the fastest time in the field in the regular competition, and placed second in the men's championship run-off.

Carter also took home a trophy for the second fastest women's time of the day.

A second Highlands team, captained by Don Lagerstrom, took sixth place in the competition, while a third Highlands team failed to place.

Team placings were calculated by totaling the times of the three fastest members of each five-member team.

7 empty chairs fall from Highlands lift

Forest Service officials revealed this week that seven chairs were cut from the Olympic Lift cable three weeks ago and fell 20 to 30 feet to the ground.

There were no injuries, although 50 skiers were stranded after the empty chairs fell. High winds prevented their evacuation.

The accident happened March 23 and was caused by winds averaging 30-35 miles an hour, with gusts to 75.

Asked why the information about the accident is coming out only now, Tom Bell, district ranger said, "No one asked us. A lot of people knew about it. I guess there was just more interest after the Vail accident."

Four persons were killed and eight others injured in a gondola accident at Vail, just three days after the Highlands incident.

Ski area and Forest Service officials said a wind gust whipped an empty chair upside down near Tower 11, about 800 feet from the top of the lift. The chair caught the tower and partly derailed the cable.

Bell said the chair was ripped off the cable.

A safety switch is designed to shut off the lift if the cable derails to the outside of a series of guide pulleys. In this instance however, the cable derailed to the inside and didn't trip the safety switch.

Four more chairs passed over the tower before the cable moved further to the inside. Finally there wasn't enough clearance left for subsequent chairs and six were torn from the cable and fell to the ground.

The lift operator shut the lift off manually when he noticed the missing chairs.

The Forest Service is recommending that the State Passenger Tramway Safety Board explore development of a more adequate safety switch.

April 15th Aspen Times

Whether she was an Easter Bunny or a Snow Bunny wasn't immediately clear, but Karen Church, ears and all, was definitely some kind of bunny at last week's season-ending hot dog contest at Aspen Highlands. Contestants competed in a wide variety of costumes and make-up as they bid farewell to winter with flips, spins, bounces, and spills. Chris Cassatt photo.

April 15, 1978 Aspen Times

NASTAR finals dominated by coastal skiers

Skiers from the east and west coasts dominated the NASTAR national finals held here last weekend, taking first place in seven of the eight racing categories.

80 racers from across the country competed in the NASTAR events, which were held at Aspen Highlands and Snowmass.

The top two men and two women in each age category in each of the country's five NASTAR regions were selected to race in the competition here.

In the men's races, Ernest Alger of Fairfield, Conn, took first place in the 50 and over class, with James Whitely of Olympic Valley, Cal, placing first in the 40-49 group.

Francis Reilly of Wilton, Maine, placed first in the men's 30-39 class, and Pat Seelye of Glenn Falls, NY took first in the 19-29 group.

In the women's competition, Jean Hodgkins of Rockland, Me, was first in the 50 and over class, with Ednarae Gross of Albuquerque, NM, taking first in the 40-49 class.

Kay Geitner of Reading, Pa, was first in the 30-39 class, and Dominique Laneyrie, of Bear Valley, Cal, took first in the 19-29 group.

No Aspen skiers competed in the events, and the best finish by any Colorado skiers were the second-place results by John Quinn of Vail, in the men's 50 and over and Bette Renz also of Vail, in the women's 19-29.

While his wife Portia looks on, Aspen blacksmith Francis Whitaker reads a letter telling that he has been conferred an honorary degree by the University of Colorado at Boulder. Whitaker learned of the honor at a surprise party given recently by his wife and Helmut Schloffer of the Wienerstube Restaurant. Whitaker served on the City Council in Aspen and Carmel, Calif—and served on Aspen's Planning and Zoning Commission. Photo by Franz Berko.

April 15, 1976 Aspen Times

WITH MANY
Thanks

*To Thank
You*

Dear Mr. & Mrs. Jones -

Jack & I would like to thank you for the wonderful time we had at Le Cabaret.

We would also like to ask of you to know what a very good job you do running Aspen Highlands. Little do people know who have never been in business, what a big job and responsibility goes along for a successful enterprise.

Sincerely
Jack & Chanoc
Jenkins

With sincere thanks for your kindness.
It was appreciated
more than words can say.

Your thoughtfulness will always be remembered.

Thank you for a good year and the best party w ever been to.

Rita & Duane ;

Inside Cloud 9

Feb 1976

Highlands duo is first in ski-tennis tourney at Vail

The Aspen Highlands team of Hans Schwartz and Bonnie Saunders took first place last weekend in the Third Annual Vail Ski-Tennis Tournament.

Schwartz is racing director at Highlands and tennis pro at the Aspen Meadows, while Saunders is a ski instructor at Highlands.

Each competitor in the tournament makes four ski runs on a dual course and each team plays at least five tennis matches.

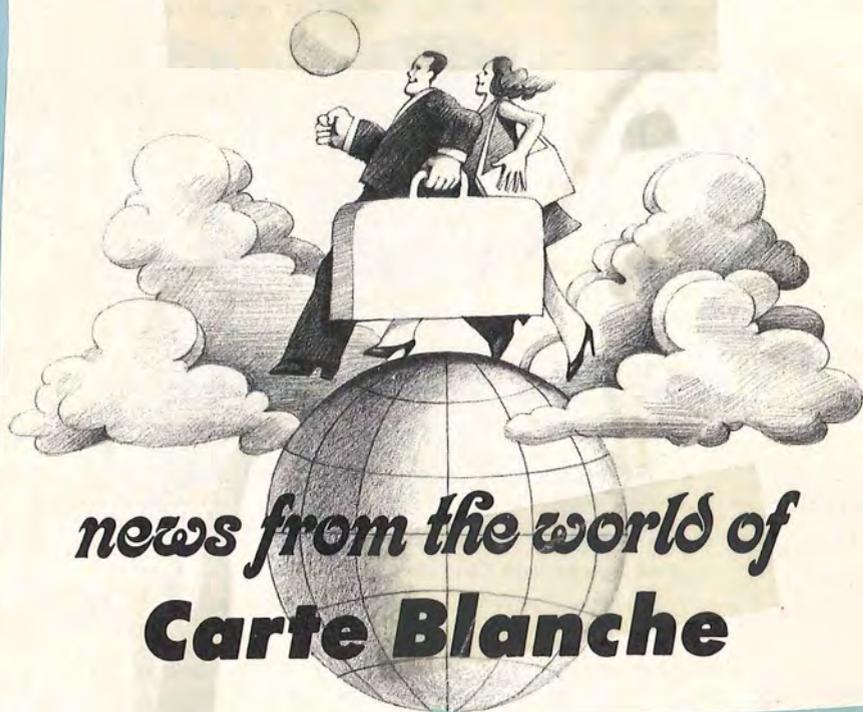

Winners are determined through a point system, based on results in all races and tennis matches.

*Harry J. Heuer
and Carlanne K. Heuer are proud to announce the marriage of their daughter Deborah Ann
to Michael Grether*

The wedding will take place on May 1, 1976, 2:00 p.m. in Aspen, Colorado

Reception follows at 0108 Starwood Road

*R.S.V.P.
Box 8206, Aspen, Colorado 81611
925-5513 925-5332*

news from the world of
Carte Blanche

YEAR-ROUND RESORT COMPLEX IN
ASPEN, COLORADO

Aspen, Colorado, renowned as a winter ski resort, now augments its facilities for year-round tourist enjoyment with the addition of the newly completed Aspen Highlands Resort Group. The renovated Highlands Inn, newly constructed Aspen Tennis Ranch and the new Highlands Conference Center facilities all contribute to this complete resort complex ideal for both business and pleasure. The Highlands Inn features an excellent dining room, lounge, pool and sauna, along with a wide variety of guest rooms (some with kitchenette, most with fireplace). The Aspen Tennis Ranch offers six championship courts, complete pro shop and a fine staff of resident professionals who teach the most modern techniques using the latest equipment. The Conference Center, ideal for business conventions, can accommodate groups from 10 to 200 in three meeting rooms. A Conference Coordinator is available full-time to help arrange all details. For further information, contact the Aspen Highlands Resort Group, P.O. Box T, Aspen, Colorado 81611, (303) 925-5300.

HIGHLANDS
inn
ASPEN, COLORADO, U.S.A.
T.M.

Printed in U.S.A.

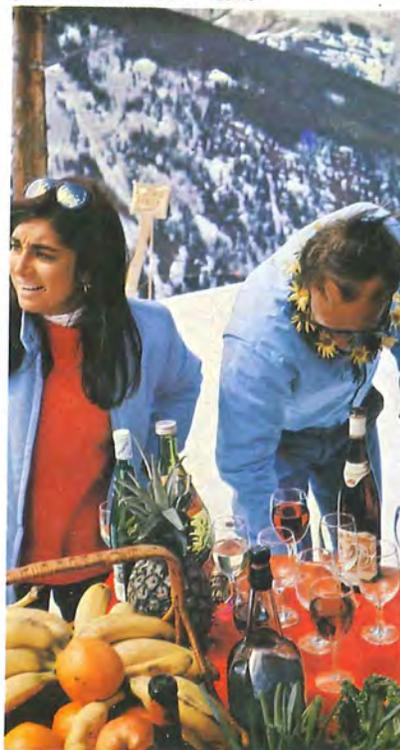

When the snow falls, Aspen Highlands brings you skiing unmatched in the U.S.A. right in your own back yard. Your host on the trails is none other than Lefty himself. He'll see to it that every guest — expert or beginner — really enjoys all the thrills of alpine skiing. Aspen Highlands Ski School, under his direction, teaches a modified French-American technique with the Graduated Length Method (GLM) of instruction. Over 100 instructors are employed by Lefty. They teach every ability level from rank beginner to racing and powder enthusiasts to free-style afficiandos.

Over fifty miles of trails, twelve lifts and the highest vertical rise in Colorado are at your doorstep. Fun activities such as NASTAR races, wine and cheese picnics for groups, hot-dog contests and much more are offered to Highlands guests. Apres-ski you can swing at the Base Lodge or relax over your favorite beverage at the Inn Cocktail Lounge. Don't be surprised if Lefty or one of his instructors joins you for a drink before dinner. And there's always a cozy fire in the lobby fireplace — an ideal place to meet your friends and talk about your favorite trail or view.

Winter or summer Highlands Inn is the place to stay in Aspen. Make your reservations now!

For further information write or call:

Mr. Charles (Lefty) Brinkman
Highlands Inn
P. O. Box 1168
Aspen, CO 81611
(303) 925-5050

A part of Aspen
Highlands Resort Group

The Aspen Tennis Ranch at Highlands Inn offers the finest and most complete tennis facility in Colorado. While there are any number of tennis ranches you've probably considered for your next vacation, our tennis program has one distinct advantage you won't find anywhere else.

Aspen — And all that comes with it. The Victorian atmosphere. The night life and great restaurants. The riding and hiking trails. And the mountains that tower high above the Aspens.

THE SEASON

The Aspen Tennis Ranch season includes fourteen weeks of beautiful tennis weather. Warm, dry, sunny days. And cool, clear Rocky Mountain nights. Each week consists of seven nights of lodging and six days of hard tennis, exercise and relaxation. There are four hours of court time a day including two hours of concentrated semi-private instruction by dedicated professionals. Teaching aids include video tape, ball machines and a court strategy session.

YOUR WEEK

Of course, we have a lot more to offer than lodging and court time. Your week also includes seven hearty breakfasts and two superb dinners at Aspen's world famous Copper Kettle and Crystal Palace restaurants. A summer lift ride up beautiful Aspen Highlands. A welcoming cocktail party and a farewell awards banquet. A free concert during the Aspen Music Festival. And, of course, all the amenities you might expect from one of Aspen's finest lodges.

In addition, there's golf, fishing and hiking with a guide, jeep touring, and mountain climbing — all available at additional cost.

Next summer, when the colors come back to the slopes and the creeks run full with clear mountain water, there'll be a great new reason for coming to Aspen — and Highlands Inn.

Tennis at its best.

WELCOME TO HIGHLANDS INN

Nestled in Colorado's High Country at the base of beautiful Aspen Highlands and just two miles from downtown Aspen, Highlands Inn features a variety of accommodations from spacious suites with fireplaces to modern dorm rooms with private baths.

Highlands Inn is small enough (40 rooms total) so that the staff can give you the kind of personal attention that you prefer. And it's large enough so you can eat, drink and be merry all within the shortest possible walking distance of the finest skiing and tennis available anywhere in the Rockies.

Your host at Highlands Inn is Charles (Lefty) Brinkman, ex-Olympian, world-renowned ski instructor and tennis buff without peer.

As Director of Highlands Ski School and Director of the Aspen Tennis Ranch, Lefty is the closest thing to a perpetual motion machine you're ever likely to see. Because from the time you arrive until the last lingering moment before you leave, he's constantly on the move to make your stay something you'll remember for a lifetime. A tall order? Not when your vacation getaway is Highlands Inn, where the accent is on Alpine luxury and, most important, on fun!

When the snow melts, Highlands Inn invites you to play on their flawlessly surfaced tennis courts. Private and group lessons are available to guests whatever their level of proficiency. Lefty and his staff of professionals employ the most advanced teaching methods, including ball machines, video tape and a unique system of graduated length racquets for better control of play. Each guest is brought along at his own pace as quickly and painlessly as possible.

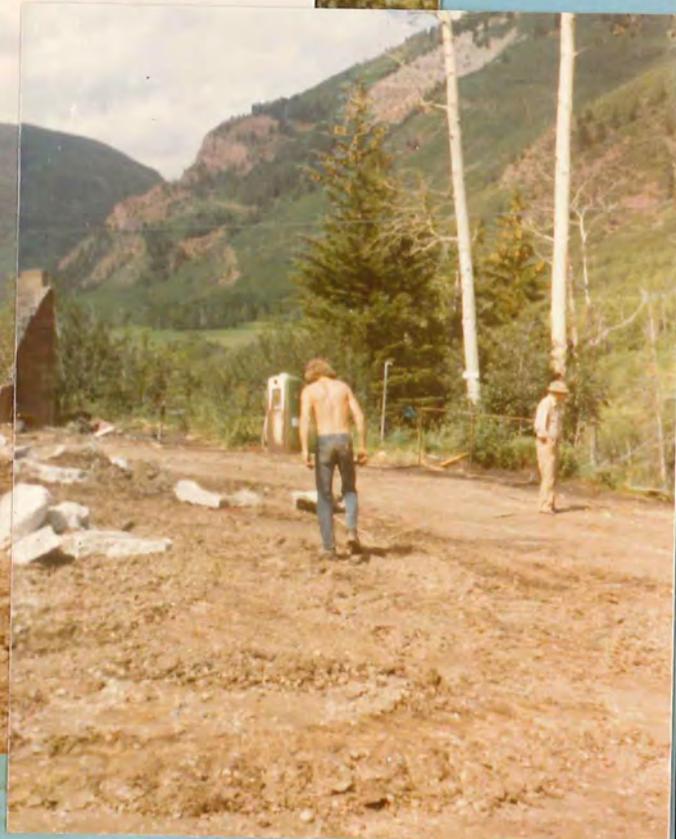

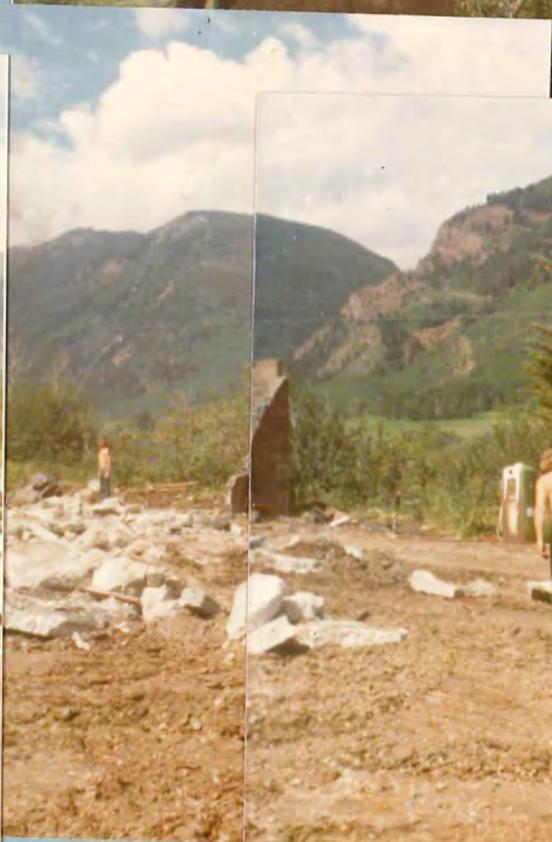

In addition to skiing and tennis every facility you need to make your stay complete is available right at the Inn. Year-round heated swimming pool. Saunas. Cocktail Lounge. Ski Rental shop. Tennis Pro Shop. Gift Shop. Massage service. Limousine service to and from Aspen. And free winter bus service to all other Aspen ski areas.

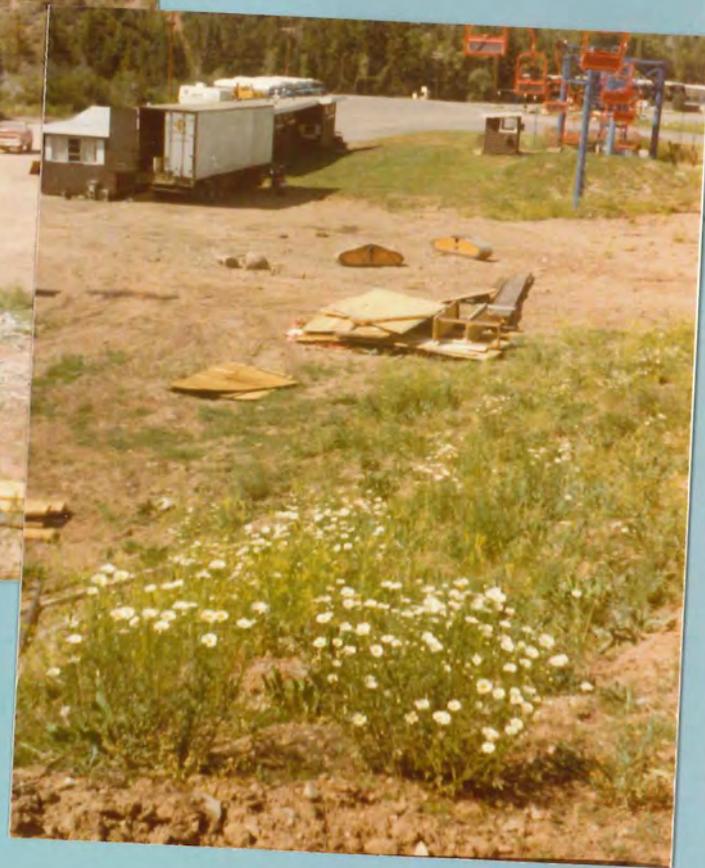

When it comes to dining out, you're invited to dine in the Buffalo Nickel restaurant at Highlands Inn. Match your meal to your mood from breakfast, lunch, dinner and snack menus featuring gourmet delights guaranteed to satisfy the most discriminating palate.

Aspen is a great place to visit in summer. Whether you're a party of ten or one hundred you'll be glad to know that now there is a complete facility where your group can gather for meetings, conferences, meals and tennis. Aspen Highlands Conference Center provides an attractive, relaxing environment for your summer or fall conference. Four meeting rooms, audio-visual aids, excellent catering and a full-time conference coordinator guarantee that your meeting will be a success.

Aspen is a great place to visit in summer. Whether you're a party of ten or one hundred you'll be glad to know that now there is a complete facility where your group can gather for meetings, conferences, meals and tennis. Aspen Highlands Conference Center provides an attractive, relaxing environment for your summer or fall conference. Four meeting rooms, audio-visual aids, excellent catering and a full-time conference coordinator guarantee that your meeting will be a success.

HIGHLANDS
inn T.M.
ASPEN, COLORADO, U.S.A.

ASPEN
HIGHLANDS

SEASON TICKETS

Early Bird Special

On Sale Beginning 8/6/76

Prices:

8-6-76 - 8-31-76	$250.00
9-1-76 - 9-30-76	$275.00
10-1-76 - 10-31-76	$300.00
11-1-76 and on	$325.00

New Ski Terrain is Planned for 1976-77.
Steeplechase Area offers four new advanced runs and 1000' vertical. Accessible from Loges and Cloud Nine Lifts.

For more information call 925-5300.

Tickets on sale at Exhibition Lift Ticket Office Monday, Thursday, Friday, Saturday, Sunday — 9:30-3:00 P.M.

© ASPEN HIGHLANDS SKIING CORPORATION

Highlands expansion gets first OK

Expansion of the Highlands Ski Area onto the steep slopes above Castle Creek received general conceptual approval from the Pitkin County Commissioners at their regular meeting Monday, Aug 9.

The plan, as presented to the commissioners, calls for construction of a traverse trail connecting the new runs with the existing area for the coming winter, with a new lift planned for the future.

The commissioners expressed some concern about construction details of the proposed work, especially the amount of cutting and heavy machine work necessary for the traverse, but voted their approval after Forest Ranger Tom Bell explained that only conceptual approval was required at this point, with examination of specific details to come later in the process.

Bell told the commissioners that if they voted in favor of the expansion at this point, the Forest Service would begin an intensive examination of all environmental aspects of the plan, following which, the commissioners would again be asked for their approval of the project.

The three commissioners then voted that the Highlands plan is "not inconsistent" with county growth control policies and noted that they would give favorable consideration to the project in the future if Highlands agrees to meet county specifications on construction procedures and also agrees to work toward county transportation goals.

The Plan

The Highlands' proposal was outlined by County Planner Bill Kane and presented in greater detail by Highlands President Whip Jones, Marketing Director Bill Brehmer, and Mountain Manager Dave Wright.

The proposed expansion will ultimately open up 1800 vertical feet of primarily expert skiing in chutes dropping off towards Castle Creek from the ridge immediately below Loges Peak, the top of Highlands.

The terrain, according to Kane who skied the area last winter with Highlands officials, is mostly over 50 percent slopes and almost entirely for experts only.

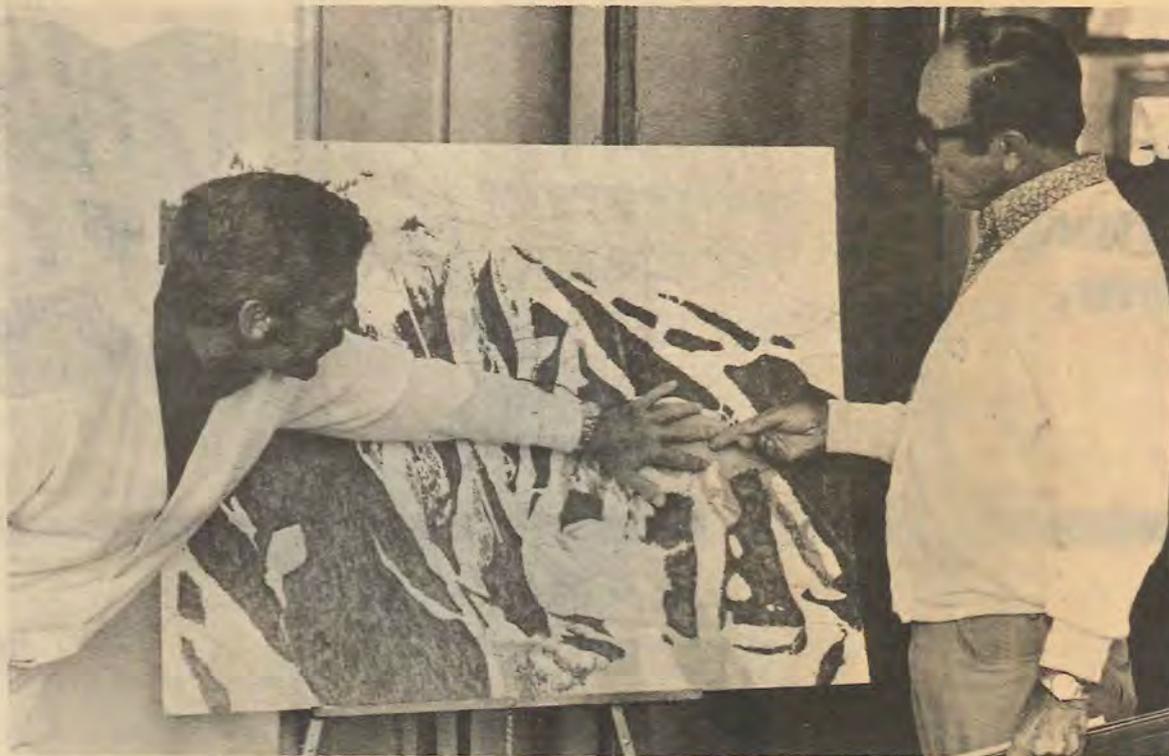

Brehmer characterized the terrain as similar to the back bowls at Vail, although steeper.

Brehmer also noted that the snow conditions in the area are "consistently excellent," with snow renewed each night by high winds, even if there is no actual snow fall.

Under the proposed plan, about half of the new area, the upper half, would be open this winter, with skiers accessing the new runs from the top of Loges and then traveling back to the main area on the new traverse.

Construction of the new lift, possibly next summer, would then open the lower half of the new runs.

The runs would never connect

Bill Brehmer and Whip Jones of Aspen Highlands clarify their ski area expansion plans, with references to an area map. Andy Stone photo.

to the bottom of the mountain in the Castle Creek valleys. Skiers would always be required to return to the top of the new area to get to the bottom of the mountain.

Kane and Brehmer both noted that this "dead end" nature of the new development would mean that the expansion would not greatly increase Highlands' skier capacity, but would act mostly to disperse skiers more widely on the mountain and provide expert terrain for locals.

This prediction is based on current ski area planning theory, which states that skier capacity of a mountain is determined primarily by the carrying capacity of its base area lifts.

Kane stated that the plan

"broadens the scope of Highlands by providing exclusively expert terrain, which does not appeal primarily to tourists."

Brehmer added that the new area should appeal to local resident skiers because of its difficulty and might help reduce pressures on Aspen Mt.

Brehmer also argued for the value to the community of "a strong, viable Aspen Highlands" which could provide keen competition for the Aspen Skiing Corporation.

Concerns

The major concerns expressed during the meeting were about the level of construction work necessary to create the new traverse and, ultimately, the new lift.

The commissioners and Planner Kane all noted that they had reservations about the project if it would leave highly visible scars on the mountain.

After giving his generally favorable assessment of the project, Kane closed by noting that it "would not be worth it if it required major construction work and left scars on the mountain."

The county planning and zoning commission, which earlier gave a similar conceptual approval to the plan, also expressed concern about the construction details.

The commissioners questioned Highlands President Jones as to whether the proposed traverse would require heavy machinery and extensive slope cuts.

Originally it had been hoped that the traverse would be quite narrow, designed for skiers only, with snowmobiles possibly using it for emergencies requiring only removing a few trees and no slope cutting.

Jones however, explained that the traverse would have to be at least 12 to 15 feet wide for ski patrolmen to safely handle toboggans carrying injured skiers.

Jones also noted that he wanted the traverse to be able to handle snow cats for slope grooming.

In discussing construction procedures for the future lift, Jones noted that the towers would all be installed by helicopter, although a bulldozer would be needed to create a flat area for the base of the lift.

Jones was also questioned about revegetation of bare spots created by the work and he responded "We revegetate everything...the Forest Service makes us."

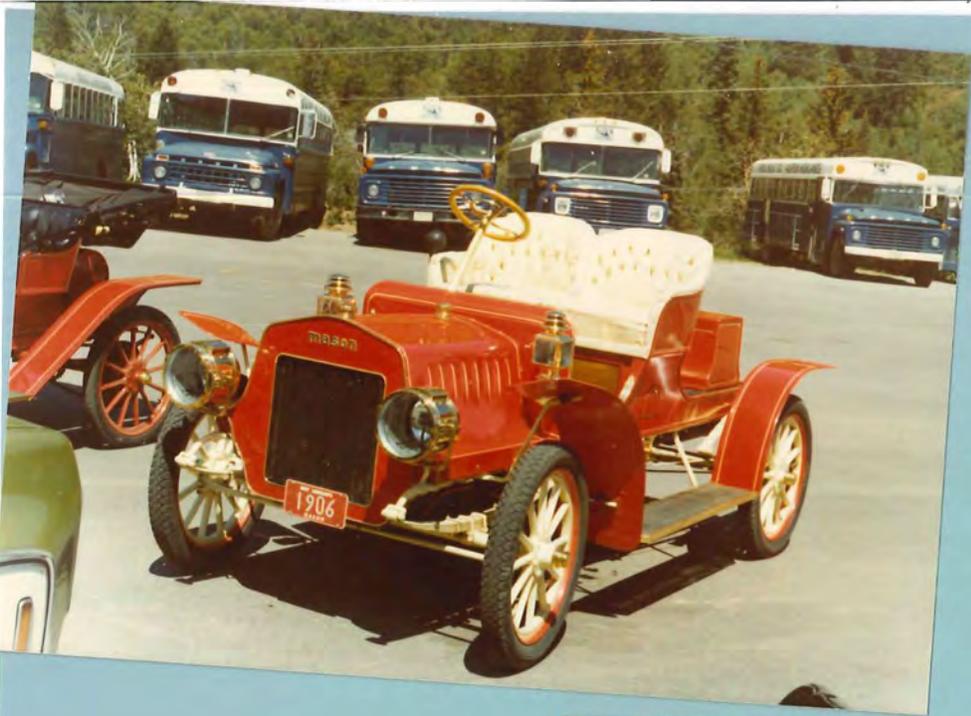

In discussing transportation plans, Jones stated that since the expansion is not seen as greatly increasing mountain capacity, no new parking lots are planned, although Highlands might add another bus to its fleet.

Brehmer also noted that Highlands has tended to discourage people from driving out to the area, preferring that they travel by bus instead.

In approving the concept of the expansion, the commissioners added a condition that Highlands agree to work for even greater percentages of skiers traveling by bus, a condition which had been placed on earlier approval, of now-abandoned Aspen Ski Corp proposals for expansion at Snowmass.

New Highlands slopes will open this winter

Steeple Chase, a new section of the Aspen Highlands Ski Area, will open this winter with its first phase, offering four new trails on the northeast face of Highlands, according to an announcement from the ski area this week.

The runs will offer 1000 vertical feet of skiing and will be almost a mile in length, starting from the 11,600-foot level, below Loges Peak.

The skiing in the new area will be almost entirely expert quality.

At the bottom of the trails there will be a catwalk, which will take skiers back to the main portion of the ski area at the bottom of the current Boomerang run.

During the summer of 1977, according to Highlands, a new double chair lift will be built to serve the Steeple Chase area.

This new lift will add an additional 800 vertical feet to the runs and will connect the bottom of the runs with a point just below Loges Peak.

When the new lift opens, a number of new runs will also be built, creating a separate area, which can be skied independently of the main portion of Highlands, once a skier reaches Loges Peak.

The new area will be on the slopes above Castle Creek, but the runs will not reach the base of the mountain, and no new base facilities will be constructed, according to statements which Highlands has made to county and Forest Service officials.

Because of this the new area will not count as expansion of Highlands, since the number of skiers which an area can handle is technically determined by the capacity of its base lifts.

Thus the new Highlands area will serve to disperse skiers across the mountain and provide additional terrain, similarly to proposed upper-slope expansion at Snowmass.

Glenwood man breaks neck in car crash

